More Bodies Sought In Train Plunge

20 Recovered So Far As Communter Coach Gives Up 13

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — A tricky hoisting operation early today recovered a Jersey Central commuter coach bearing 13 bodies from the swirling waters of Newark Bay.

The railroad estimates that 40 persons died Monday when a five-car commuter train, pulled by two locomotives, hit an open drawbridge on a trestle over the bay and knifed into the water.

Twenty bodies have been recovered so far.

Thirty-three others were injured.

The locomotives and three of the five coaches came to rest on the silty bottom. One of the coaches dangled over the water long enough for its passengers to scramble to safety and then plunged in.

The raised coach, little damaged outwardly, was a shambles inside, strewn with luggage and bodies. It was towed on a flat barge to the Bayonne Naval Depot.

The bodies were taken to the Bayonne morgue for identification.

Among bodies identified today were those of George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss, 39, former New York Yankee star second baseman; and Howard W. Huntington, 54, a statistician of the New York Times financial news department for 33 years.

Among the missing and presumed dead was Elton Clark, 71, a director of Allied Chemical & Dye Co., one of the nation's biggest corporations.

Stirnweiss, father of six children, lost his life as the result of a split-second stroke of fate—he had swung aboard the train at the last moment just as it was pulling out of Red Bank.

Four of six crewmen aboard the train died, including engineer Lloyd Wilburn, 63, Red Bank, N.J.

Skindivers, Navy underwater specialists and surface vessels recovered some bodies that floated free of the wreckage.

One of the first rescuers on the scene, boatman Ed McCarthy, said: "I tell you I never want to see anything like this again. It comes back to me how horrible it must have been for those people trapped under the water."

The train had made its way without incident along the north Jersey shore toward Jersey City and the ferry Terminals to New York City. En route it picked up New York-bound business executives, Wall Streeters and weekend vacationers headed back from the shore.

Bridgetender Patrick Corcoran, 55, pulled the switch that raised the elevator-type drawbridge to allow a barge to move through the heavily traveled waterway.

"There was nothing I could do," he said, as he told of watching helplessly as the train plunged into the water. "I heard the rumble. I can't describe my feelings. I never saw anything like this in my life . . . I never saw such a mess in my life."

Aboard the train as it rocked onto the 1½-mile trestle, there was little forewarning of disaster.

"All of a sudden the brakes went on and everything went topsy turvy," said Elwood E. DeHart, a 72-year-old passenger who survived.

Donald Weaver, 32, a Union Beach, N.J., clerk in a Manhattan bank, said: "I was reading my paper. I thought the car was derailed. The next thing I knew the car was full of water. I got out through a smashed window. I couldn't touch bottom. There were five or six of us in the water. We

Slayer's Jury Told Of Affair With Woman

Intended Victim In Ambush Killing Was Neighbor's Husband

Assistant District Atty. Joseph A. Walko of Beaver County today told the jury at Arthur. G. Schuck's murder trial that he will show that Edward Ragozine was the intended victim instead of Vincent J. Quigley, one of two men killed by ambush April 27 in Brownsville of Economy Borough.

He said he would show that Schuck and Mrs. Rose Ragozine were having an affair and Schuck was really after her husband the night of the double murder.

Dr. John L. Moyer, pathologist at the Rochester General Hospital, testified to the extent of the wounds Quigley suffered.

Another witness, Mrs. Olga Ray, who lives on Ann St., scene of the shootings, said she was awakened by a noise and ran to her window.

She saw a car turning around in her driveway. She said she saw a parked car and a man fired one shot at the first car, took several

Hillcrest Group Acts

Suit Asks School Area Dissolution

A move to dissolve the recently consolidated Southern Local School District was made in Common Pleas Court Monday by a group of Hillcrest area residents seeking to merge their section with Wellsville School District.

A petition to set aside the act of the Columbiana County Board of Education in forming the consolidated district was filed by Walter H. Laughlin, Thomas A. Wilkes, Paul Talbott, Charles Glass. Margaret Miller and Hugh Nile.

The petition, filed against the County Board and the Southern Local Board, also seeks a permanent injunction against the inclusion of the Hillcrest area in the consolidated district, made up of the former Yellow Creek, Salineville and Wayne districts.

The County Board is slated to meet tonight to act on a Hillcrest area petition to merge with the Wellsville district.

Judge Raymond Buzzard, in a mandamus action of the Hillcrest area group, directed the county board either to approve the merger with Wellsville or to refer the petition to the State Board of Education.

Signers of the new petition claim the formation of the Southern Local District in December was illegal in that the action by Hillcrest to withdraw from the Yellow Creek Local District still was pending. They claim they were forced into the new Southern District, and were deprived of remonstrance action against the consolidation.

The petition also points out the collection of taxes for the operation of the new district is under way "illegally" because of the invalid status of the district. The signers also claim "irreparable damage" will result to the Hillcrest area residents unless two boards are restrained.

The petition seeks to have the County Board's resolution of Dec. 24 creating the Southern Local District declared "null and void" and that the board be enjoined perpetually from effecting the consolidation.

An opinion from the state attorney general's office early in the summer indicated the Southern Local District status may be invalid because of the Hillcrest merger petition issue.

County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw in another opinion indicated the status of the new district is unaffected by the merger issue, and the Hillcrest area could be transferred without disturbing Southern Local.

Russia To Ask U.N. To Study A-Test Ban

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko had called for the question of the cessation of nuclear weapon tests to be included on the agenda of the U.N. General Assembly.

The broadcast, quoting a Tass dispatch from New York, said Gromyko made the request in a letter to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Empty Chair, Then Empty Bed

Long Night Spent By Many After Tragic Train Plunge

RED BANK, N. J. (AP) —It was a long night in many homes along the north Jersey shore.

First, the empty chair at dinner Monday night. Then an empty bed.

Somebody in the family was missing "on that train."

"That train" could only mean the Jersey Central train that plunged into Newark Bay Monday morning, leaving agonizing uncertainty behind.

And in at least 40 homes, in the homes of the prominent, the wealthy and the obscure, they waited — afraid that the phone would ring, afraid that it would never ring.

Friends and relatives called. Reporters called. Local police called. None had any more information than the waiting family.

And they waited, knowing that each hour that went by increased the grim possibility that a loved one had died in the murky waters of Newark Bay.

They waited in the home of George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss, 39, former second baseman for the New York Yankees and father of six children.

Stirnweiss almost missed the train Monday morning, catching it just as it was moving out of Red Bank. He was headed for New York, where he held down two

Nationalist Islands Get More Cargo

Planes And Ships Used To Quemoys; New Attempts Set

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Nationalists got more supplies to the beleaguered Quemoys by planes and ship today, the Defense Ministry announced.

It was the third straight day the Nationalists supplied Little Quemoy by air. Seven cargo planes made the latest airdrop, the ministry said.

An LST—Landing Ship, Tank—rammed ashore on Quemoy and unloaded all its cargo in 20 minutes, the ministry reported. This would indicate the cargo may have been taken off the ship in amphibious vehicles.

The Nationalists succeeded in a ship landing on Quemoy Sunday after a week of failures.

The new ship run to Quemoy came as the Nationalist reported they were working new attempts to crack the Red artillery blockade of the offshore islands.

New speedup methods of unloading Nationalist planes and ships at Quemoy and the parachuting of supplies to smaller islands near Quemoy were reported. More effective ways to get supplies through the curtain of shells are being sought, Premier Chen Cheng told Parliament.

Four members of Parliament spearheaded a strong clamor in Taipei against the U.S.-Chinese Communist talks which began in Warsaw Monday and recessed until Thursday.

The talks are intended to ease Formosa Strait tension, possibly bringing an end to the bombardment of the Quemoys which began Aug. 23. But the four prominent legislators said the talks might adversely affect the morale of nationalist troops and civilians.

"How can America seek peace with the Communists when the objective of international communism is to conquer the world?" a statement by the four said. It followed numerous similar statements of Nationalist leaders urging the United States support for military action against Red China.

So far the United States has limited itself to essentially defensive operations while bringing in a nuclear-armed striking force just in case.

The hottest plane in the U.S. air arsenal, the F104 Starfighter, has begun to fly over Formosa as part of the U.S. protective force should fighting spread beyond the offshore islands.

The American Taiwan (Formosa) Defense Command also said Marine Air Group 11, which came here for joint U.S.-Nationalist amphibious maneuvers, has

Ike-Rogers Talks Today May Affect Integration Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Rogers today headed for a Newport, R.I., conference with President Eisenhower that could have eventual far-reaching effects on Southern resistance to school integration.

As of now, authoritative sources report, the federal government has no plan for any sensational or precipitate action to meet the high school closures at Little Rock, Ark., and other delaying actions elsewhere in the South.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, described the Eisenhower-Rogers conference as "a review of the integration situation to date."

Washington officials saw nothing urgent in the meeting.

They discounted the statement of Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus, when he ordered closing of Little Rock high schools last week to avoid integration, that the next move was up to Washington. They contend it isn't so, that the next move actually is up to Faubus.

They indicated that any federal action will await Faubus' move.

The feeling here is that Faubus must now find some method that will stand up in the courts to get secondary school education under way again in his capital city.

Federal authorities are putting some, but not total, reliance on a buildup of pressures on the part of Little Rock parents to get their teen-agers back into classrooms. At least 100 idled Little Rock students already have tried to enroll at other schools in the state.

There also is talk in Little Rock of reopening the public schools on a private, segregated basis. The Little Rock school board asked Faubus to advise it how that could be done "with assurance of full accreditation under North Central Assn. standards."

The federal position may be summarized this way:

There is no existing law under which the federal government can force a state to operate a system of public schools. If the entire system is closed down, that's it, and the matter is closed so far as Washington is concerned.

But legal authorities say a constitutional question may be raised in selective school closures designed to avoid obedience of a Supreme Court order. They say that when a state offers given grades of education in one area and withholds them in others, it may be possible to argue successfully in court that children in the latter areas are being denied the equal protection of the laws guaranteed by the 14th Amendment.

Asks Eight Nations Meet On Nov. 10

Political Conference Would Come After Experts Agreement

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has agreed to exploratory talks with the West on ways to prevent surprise attacks. An agreement by experts on a workable system could lead to political discussions on establishing safeguards against another Pearl Harbor.

In answer to a series of notes from President Eisenhower, the Kremlin agreed Monday to meet in Geneva. The Soviet note handed to U.S. Charge d'Affaires Richard H. Davis proposed that eight-nation talks begin Nov. 10.

The meeting would follow the precedent of technical talks that ended Aug. 21 with East-West agreement on ways to police a nuclear weapons tests ban. The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union are to begin political negotiations on an actual ban in Geneva Oct. 31.

The two related aspects of easing world tension, by possible nuclear weapons test ban and safeguards against surprise attack, contribute to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's on-again off-again drive for a summit conference. At the same time, they represent the type of thorough preparation that the United States insists must pre-

Director Asks For $17,280 In Extra Funds

$10,000 Would Be Used For Repairs, Oiling Of Streets

Council referred to its finance committee Monday night an administration request for an additional appropriation of $17,280, including $10,000 for oiling of unsurfaced streets and seal-coating and patching of blacktop pavement.

The street work will supplement oiling and seal-coating projects done under contract earlier in the summer, Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti explained in a letter to Council detailing the need for extra funds.

The supplementary street-oiling program already is under way with a distributor truck purchased a few weeks ago by the city.

Maggianetti told Council the city needs $5,000 for purchase of oil and $2,500 for surface treatment material. To do the seal-coating, the city requires a spreader box from which slag will be applied to the new asphalt material, the director said. He estimated the cost at $500.

In addition, blacktop material will cost $2,000, Maggianetti said. He said the street department is scheduled to patch blacktop streets that are full of holes or have rough edges where the surface has broken off at the berm. As an example, he cited Anderson Blvd.

The only other major item in the director's request calls for $4,000 for purchase of mechanical sewer cleaning equipment for use of the street department. Three men have been assigned to sewer cleaning, working on both storm and sanitary lines, but some of the jobs cannot be done properly without the mechanical equipment he explained. At present, the work is done by hand.

He also requested $1,000 to "reactivate" the city's Civil Defense program and start training of auxiliary firemen, police and air

Sewer Finally Seen Possible At Beechwood

Council Schedule Legislative Action After 10-Year Delay

After 10 years of negotiations and discussion, legislation is scheduled to be presented to Council in mid-October clearing the way for a general sanitary sewer project in Beechwood.

Council requested the first enabling legislation Monday night after City Engineer George S. Bloomgren reported he virtually has completed preparation of the plans. The cost estimate, along with the anticipated cost to property-owners via special assessments, has not been completed, the engineer added.

He pointed out that construction of the Beechwood project was made possible by the fact a new interceptor sewer is being built between Ohio Ave. and Pennsyl-

Joint Meeting Planned

Council And School Board To Seek Solution For DST

City Council and the Board of Education will meet jointly soon to discuss the question of returning East Liverpool to Eastern Standard Time before the normal "cutoff date" Oct. 26 because of complaints that school children on their way to classes afoot and on buses are endangered by early morning fogs under Daylight Saving Time.

The question was discussed separately by both Council and the board Monday night but no decision was reached in either case. Confronted by the same citizens' delegation that approached the school board, Council agreed to seek a joint meeting of the two agencies "within the next few days" to attempt to find a solution.

Until about three years ago, East Liverpool dropped the summer time on the last Sunday of September. However, fast time later was extended until the last Sunday of October to keep in step with most of the Eastern United States.

AT ITS meeting, the school board took no action on a suggestion from James Lowe that school convene later in the mornings to avoid the danger of pupils traveling to school in darkness and fog.

At present, the work is done by hand.

He also requested $1,000 to "reactivate" the city's Civil Defense program and start training of auxiliary firemen, police and air

Sewer Finally Seen Possible At Beechwood

Council Schedule Legislative Action After 10-Year Delay

After 10 years of negotiations and discussion, legislation is scheduled to be presented to Council in mid-October clearing the way for a general sanitary sewer project in Beechwood.

Council requested the first enabling legislation Monday night after City Engineer George S. Bloomgren reported he virtually has completed preparation of the plans. The cost estimate, along with the anticipated cost to property-owners via special assessments, has not been completed, the engineer added.

He pointed out that construction of the Beechwood project was made possible by the fact a new interceptor sewer is being built between Ohio Ave. and Pennsyl-

Empty Chair, Then Empty Bed

Long Night Spent By Many After Tragic Train Plunge

RED BANK, N. J. (AP) —It was a long night in many homes along the north Jersey shore.

First, the empty chair at dinner Monday night. Then an empty bed.

Somebody in the family was missing "on that train."

"That train" could only mean the Jersey Central train that plunged into Newark Bay Monday morning, leaving agonizing uncertainty behind.

And in at least 40 homes, in the homes of the prominent, the wealthy and the obscure, they waited — afraid that the phone would ring, afraid that it would never ring.

Friends and relatives called. Reporters called. Local police called. None had any more information than the waiting family.

And they waited, knowing that each hour that went by increased the grim possibility that a loved one had died in the murky waters of Newark Bay.

They waited in the home of George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss, 39, former second baseman for the New York Yankees and father of six children.

Stirnweiss almost missed the train Monday morning, catching it just as it was moving out of Red Bank. He was headed for New York, where he held down two

Joint Meeting Planned

Council And School Board To Seek Solution For DST

City Council and the Board of Education will meet jointly soon to discuss the question of returning East Liverpool to Eastern Standard Time before the normal "cutoff date" Oct. 26 because of complaints that school children on their way to classes afoot and on buses are endangered by early morning fogs under Daylight Saving Time.

The question was discussed separately by both Council and the board Monday night but no decision was reached in either case. Confronted by the same citizens' delegation that approached the school board, Council agreed to seek a joint meeting of the two agencies "within the next few days" to attempt to find a solution.

Until about three years ago, East Liverpool dropped the summer time on the last Sunday of September. However, fast time later was extended until the last Sunday of October to keep in step with most of the Eastern United States.

AT ITS meeting, the school board took no action on a suggestion from James Lowe that school convene later in the mornings to avoid the danger of pupils traveling to school in darkness and fog.

The board president made the Longer Lunch Period Tested

2 Wellsville Schools Affected In Change

A tentative schedule giving a longer lunch period to students went into effect Monday at Wellsville High School and Daw Junior High School.

The new schedule provides an additional 15 minutes for the pupils. The longer period was requested by parents last week. The move was made following a study by Supt. S. E. Daw, William Menough, high school principal, and Walter H. Wolfe, Daw principal.

Noon recess will be at 11:29 a. m., the same as always. The students then will be readmitted at 12:40 p. m., with a warning bell sounding at 12:52.

The first afternoon homeroom period has been eliminated in order to gain part of the needed time, Menough said.

The fourth period of the day will end at 1:50 p. m. The fifth will begin at 1:53 and end at 2:48 with the sixth starting at 2:51 and ending at 3:46, which is the final dismissal time.

Previously, dismissal in the afternoon was at 3:34.

All morning schedules will remain the same, Menough said.

White Minister Tries To Enroll In Negro College

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A white minister, who said his actions would show "the rights of Negroes as well as those of white people are being taken away," tried to enroll Monday at a Negro college.

The pastor of the Independent Missionary Baptist Temple, who has opposed school integration, termed his actions an illustration of stupidity because "there are plenty of fine white schools in which I could enroll."

Everett O. Bell, registrar of Texas Southern University, said the Rev. Mr. E. A. Munroe's application will be handled like any other. He said he thought he would be admitted if he established himself as scholastically qualified.

The minister was accompanied by about 25 placard and flag carrying members of his congregation. One placard said, "The Supreme Court is not the word of God."

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Detectives have sent a boy and girl home to Canton, Ohio, after the two, both 17, promised not to marry.

They said they left Canton Thursday with $1.05 and a gasoline credit card. They planned to drive into Canada, but turned south when unable to pay the border crossing fee. They talked with their parents on the telephone Monday.

Request Made To Drop Postal Savings And Money Orders

CINCINNATI (AP)—The president of the National Assn. of Postmasters figures postal savings and money orders should be dropped.

Edward L. Baker of Detroit said Monday, "We should not be in the banking field. There are too many good banks around."

And he thinks new facilities and other improvements are long overdue. He told the association's national convention that:

"We must have new buildings and modernization. We're handling twice as much mail now as we did 20 years ago. And we'll be handling twice as much in 1978.

"We hope Congress will help us in the buildings. We must have assistance—our postal system is bursting at the seams. We can't wait 20 years for help; we need it now."

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, who arrived Monday night, disclosed that a new speedup system for routing letters is planned for greater Cincinnati.

He said, "The object of this study is to improve the mail service so that any first class letter mailed before 5 p. m. will be delivered on the first delivery anywhere within the approximate 6,000-square mile metropolitan Cincinnati area on the first delivery the following business day."

The area includes seven Ohio counties, seven in Kentucky and five in Indiana.

Summerfield said the speed-up has been tried in New York and Washington with over 98 per cent efficiency.

British Chief Supports U.S. On Formosa

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan has reiterated that the British government strongly supports "our American friends" in opposing any attempt of Red China to wrest offshore islands from Chiang Kai-shek by force.

The Prime Minister interrupted a vacation in Scotland to write a quick reply to the Labor Party Leader Hugh Gaitskell. Gaitskell had suggested that Macmillan make plain to the United States that Britain would not support a war over Quemoy and the Matsu islands. He also proposed that Macmillan fly to Washington to urge President Eisenhower to show restraint in the Far Eastern crisis.

Macmillan again declared that the United States had neither sought nor received any British promises of military support in the Formosa area.

"The immediate question is not the present or future status of the offshore islands," he wrote. "'t is whether a dispute of this nature should be settled by force. On that point we strongly support our American friends. I hope that you and I would both agree that terriorial adjustments should be negotiated and not brought about by force."

Misunderstanding Cited In Payroll Cards Error

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state finance director says a misunderstanding resulted in the sending of IBM payroll cards to Ohio's 88 Common Pleas courts.

Finance Director John A. Skipton apologized Monday after Judge Gerald A. Baynes of Madison County Common Pleas Court protested Skipton's making a "peremptory demand' for information on employes of an elected official.

Skipton, who said Judge Baynes is an old law school classmate, conceded that the judges should have been written in advance to request cooperation.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes, whose office handles the state's share of court payrolls, said Skipton is trying to modernize procedures.

Junior High Students Of County Take Tests

LISBON — Elementary Counselor Lorin Ruff and Mrs. Marilyn Solak, high school counselor, of the county school system, are giving tests to 7th, 8th and 9th graders in the county system under the supervision of the World Book Co.

Two different tests are being given — general ability and metropolitan achievement tests. The tests must all be given by Oct. 15 and records forwarded to the Book company, Ruff said.

Columbiana County is one of several counties in Ohio selected to give the tests. They will be checked with other schools as well as local schools to see how the classes compare locally as well as statewide and nationally.

LISBON — Vandals, apparently using air rifles, broke the windows in trucks and other machinery at the G.&M. Mining Co. on Route 518 between West Point and Gavers over the weekend, the sheriff's office reported today.

The vandals also broke the sediment bowls on the fuel systems of the machinery. No estimate was made of the damage.

2 Motorists Fined In Traffic Cases

Drivers from Lisbon and East Liverpool were fined $25 and costs each Monday by Municipal Judge George L. Brokaw for traffic violations.

Denzil Marion Teeters of Lisbon R. D. 1 drew a fine on a reckless driving charge, but charges of crashing a traffic light at E. 5th and Walnut Sts. and using illegal mufflers were dismissed. Teeters was arrested Sunday night at 11:53 at E. 5th St. and Broadway, police said.

David Lucas, 515 Elm St., drew a fine of $25 and costs for failing to stop within the assured clear distance. He was cited late Friday afternoon after a three-car collision on Harvey Ave., police said.

Philip E. Greene Jr. of Pittsburgh was released to appear after being cited Monday morning on E. 3rd St. on a reckless driving charge.

Police said the tractor-trailer operator passed another big rig within 100 feet of the intersection of Walnut and E. 3rd Sts. at 5:15 a. m., was traveling at a high rate of speed and was driving left of center.

Without the additional sewer capacity in the new line at the foot of Park Way, it would have been impossible to handle all the waste flowing out of the area, he explained.

Bloomgren told Council the way will be clear for passage of the first enabling legislation next month, as the plans, profiles and estimates will be completed then and on file in the office of Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti, which the law requires before the first legal steps are taken.

He pointed out that the request for preparation of the plans was presented to him by Council about a year ago. He recalled that the project has been "under discussion for 10 years."

On several occasions, the Health Board officially condemned sanitary conditions in Beechwood and instructed Council to proceed with sewering. In such a case, a sewer project can be undertaken without petitions from the majority of the property-holders agreeing to pay the cost via special assessments.

Bloomgren, replying to a question from Council, estimated that 25 per cent of the Beechwood area is comprised of vacant lots. At present, most of the area is without sewer service.

Beechwood lies in the ward of Councilman William Y. Orr, who made the formal motion for presentation of the enabling legislation.

"I'm very happy to see this project finally being done after many years of discussion," Councilman George E. Wilshaw commented. "Construction of the last phase of the interceptor sewer made it possible."

The train left Bay Head, a north Jersey shore resort, at 8:28 a.m. Its last stop before the trestle was Elizabethport, N.J., across Newark Bay from Bayonne.

The trestle approach to the open drawbridge was strung with warning signals. An amber caution signal was a mile from the draw. A quarter of a mile closer to the draw was another. And 550 feet from the draw was a red stop signal.

Railroad officials said all three were working.

Engineer Wilburn's train ignored all three signals, ripped through an automatic derailing device and bumped on for 500 feet over the ties before it plunged off the lip of the 216-foot drawbridge.

Estimates of the train's speed varied. Under normal circumstances, with all signals in its favor, it was limited to 45 m.p.h. A towerman said it hit the draw at about 30 m.p.h. Passengers aboard estimated its speed at up to 60 m.p.h.

Even then, but for a caprice of timing, the train might have escaped its watery plunge. The huge concrete weights of the drawbridge normally block the tracks when the bridge is wide open. But they had started to rise as the bridge was being lowered back into alignment with the trestle. Through this gap, the train plunged.

Federal and state agencies immediately launched investigations of the cause of the mysterious tragedy. The Interstate Commerce Commission, the New Jersey Public Utility Commission and the Army Corps of Engineers began probes, and the railroad said it was conducting its own investigation. They all wanted to know if men or machines caused the accident.

The body of Mayor John Hawkins, 51, of Shrewsbury, was among those in the recovered coach. Authorites said some negotiable bonds was found in the car. Mrs. Hawkins had told police that Hawkins, a New York stock broker, had left home with $250,000 in negotiable bonds.

Engineer Official Says Go Slow On Blame

CLEVELAND (AP)—A top official of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers today voiced an objection to what he called "hasty and unfair attempts to assign the blame for the Jersey Central's Newark Bay tragedy on a dead man who cannot tell his side of the story."

Roy E. Davidson, Brotherhood first assistant grand chief engineer, referred to published statements by an unnamed Jersey Central official. The railroad official was quoted as saying the engineer, Lloyd F. Wilburn of Red Bank, N. J., apparently made no attempt to stop the train.

Davidson said Wilburn was a member of the Brotherhood for the past 14 years and "an experienced and skilled engineer."

Said Davidson: "An explanation of the accident must await a thorough investigation that necessarily will take time. Even then we may never know exactly what happened."

Councilmen Authorize New Firehouse Doors

Legislation authorizing Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti to advertise for replacement of all the exterior doors at Central Fire Station was given unanimous approval by Council Monday night.

The project is covered by a $4,000 appropriation provided earlier in the year. The work will call for replacement of the big overhead truck doors that lead onto Broadway and St. Clair Ave., along with new doors of conventional size.

Carrying an emergency clause, the legislation will go into effect immediately after it is signed by Mayor Fred P. Lawrence. Eliminating the usual 30 - day wait, it will permit the administration to advertise for bids within a few days.

The door project has been discussed repeatedly by Council in the last few years, but funds never were available previously. Firemen said the doors are weathered so badly that the building is difficult to heat in winter.

Target Shooters Using Beaver Park Warned

A warning has been issued to area residents who use Beaver Creek State Park off Route 7 for target practice with rifles and also those who dump trash at the center.

Walter Burbick, park officer, said there are strict rules prohibiting use of rifles and that persons will be prosecuted along with "litter-bugs" who have been dumping trash and rubbish throughout the area.

He pointed out that shotguns are permitted in the park to hunt game but rifles are not allowed.

Burbick added that rifles have been used lately in the park merely for target practice which endangers the lives and property of park visitors. He asked district resident to co-operate. Several signs in the park were also damaged with rifle fire, he said.

Dr. Ivy Taking Drug In Tests To Combat Cancer

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, leading proponent of the controversial cancer drug Krebiozen, is taking self-prescribed doses of the drug to treat a lesion he describes as precancerous.

Dr. Ivy, 65, a University of Illinois physiologist, maintains the substance has shown promise in cancer patients. It has been a subject of dispute since its introduction in 1951 and the American Medical Assn. has stated it has no proved value.

The physiologist told a newsman Monday he took krebiozen as a preventive after discovering a sore white spot on his tongue a week ago and deciding it was precancerous.

He said he had taken some krebiozen and will take more, after which he will have a surgeon remove the lesion.

Little Rock Shapes Up As 'Nerves War'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Hundreds of anxious parents cast about today for a way to get their teen-agers into high schools somewhere as the Faubus-federal integration battle seemed to shape up as a waiting war of nerves.

The four Little Rock high schools, scheduled to open Monday, remained closed on authority of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who was empowered by the legislature to shut them to avoid forced integration.

A predicted legal clash failed to materialize. It appeared that the federal government might make no move until the governor attempts to reopen the schools on a segregated basis. Faubus has not indicated his next move.

Except for the burning of two crosses and a Negro in effigy, the day passed in comparative calm.

There was much speculation that edgy parents and students were mounting pressure to have the schools reopened on any basis. The governor denied this and said public sentiment for his stand against integration is stronger than ever.

Scores of students were trying to get into schools elsewhere, however. Apparently few had any success because of crowded conditions in other cities.

How your child can get the most from school with the help of milk

Milk is recognized as a valuable aid to children at school. Not only does it supply vital nourishment, but it calms excited nerves, relieves tension . . . and it perks up minds and bodies, keeps them alert. Children get more from their lessons because they are more attentive and less tired.

Congress has appropriated $75 million a year to make milk available to school children. This is a nation-wide program for the promotion of health, education, and good nutrition among the growing population of the nation.

Many schools now have a good lunch and milk serving program. But many, many more schools do not have such a program. Is your child's school going to participate? Contact your local school principal or school board member right now, and ask about the Special Milk Program for Children. They'll be glad to answer your questions.

The school milk program makes a good PTA project

Dairymen's Cooperative Sales Association

THE BREAK. Milk during school hours keeps minds and bodies alert, helps children get more from their lessons.

THE BOOST. Active bodies need a lift . . . a milk break is nourishing and refreshing.

How your child can get the most from school with the help of milk

Milk is recognized as a valuable aid to children at school. Not only does it supply vital nourishment, but it calms excited nerves, relieves tension . . . and it perks up minds and bodies, keeps them alert. Children get more from their lessons because they are more attentive and less tired.

Congress has appropriated $75 million a year to make milk available to school children. This is a nation-wide program for the promotion of health, education, and good nutrition among the growing population of the nation.

Many schools now have a good lunch and milk serving program. But many, many more schools do not have such a program. Is your child's school going to participate? Contact your local school principal or school board member right now, and ask about the Special Milk Program for Children. They'll be glad to answer your questions.

The school milk program makes a good PTA project

THE BOOST. Active bodies need a lift . . . a milk break is nourishing and refreshing.

Constitutional Responsibility

Americans gather this week at rallies, school assemblies, banquets and in parades to celebrate the signing 171 years ago tomorrow of their basic instrument of government, the Constitution of the United States.

Many an oration will be applauded and many a song sung extolling the joys of life in the American tradition of freedom, the wonders of liberty granted through guaranteed rights for the pursuit of happiness. Something will be said as well of the responsibilities if freedom, but not enough.

The history of oppression that sparked the American Revolution led the founding fathers to concentrate on protection against tyranny. So strong was this fear of domination that public pressure demanded the addition of the Bill of Rights to guarantee specific rights and privileges to the new nation's citizens. In this preoccupation with the setting down in black and white of the guards against tyranny, they did not list the specific duties of citizenship.

But the founding fathers and the people they represented were too close to the struggle for liberty nit to know the responsibilities they had to keep it. To them the duties were so obvious there was no need to talk about them.

Nearly two centuries later, we see their struggle too often as a glorious page of history and not often enough as a continuing, if less dramatic, effort in which each of us has a role.

In anyone needs convincing that there are threats to our Constitution, he has only to take a look at what has happened to the Fifth Amendment: The right it guarantees has been perverted to the use of people who seek only to shirk their responsibilities.

If anyone doubts the need for emphasizing the duty that goes hand in hand with freedom, he has only to witness the tremendous publicity drive necessary to get people to go to the polls and exercise the most valuable of all their rights and privileges.

It has become trite to say freedom is everybody's business. But it has become trite only because it is so true.

Underestimating The Rebound

The Federal Reserve Board's report of a 2 per cent rise in industrial production during August, accompanied by significant improvement in new construction, retail buying and construction, is summed up like this:

It had been expected that recovery would be statistically evident in the second half of 1958. But no one expected last April, when the low point of the recession was reached, that by August industrial production would have recovered half of the momentum it had lost between August 1957 and the April low this year.

It was outside the realm of expectation that the Federal Reserve Board would have any reason to use the adjective "rapid" to describe anything that would happen until the last quarter of the year, if then. Yet the board now speaks of "rapid recovery" in a month when the automobile industry was slowed to a walk.

If the experts are as puzzled as they say they are, it is because they have forgotten their habitual error in judgment of economic rebound in a free enterprise society.

They always have underestimated the potentiality of the next surge of forward motion, while overestimating the static forces threatening to impede it. Even the booms that they have predicted on rare occasions have been more explosive than they thought they would be.

The reason for this has been the inability of economists as a group to comprehend the enormous latent energy of a free society when it is released by confidence in the immediate future. The economists have no formula to measure imagination, inventiveness and ingenuity, other than what they have done in the past. But every time there is a resurgence of confidence, the yardstick of the past proves to be too short.

Early this year, the White House repeatedly reminded the prophets of doom and gloom that they would be caught short again. Last Feb. 24, for example, President Eisenhower said in an address to the National Food Conference in Washington:

"This is no time to listen to men of little faith and of little spirit. Now is the time when courage, common sense and soundness will prevent a slackness in employment and a dip in the economy from becoming serious."

It was not popular then to point out that while critics were hammering at the administration to break and run from a position of confidence, the free enterprise system was going about its traditional task of getting ready for the future with all its resources of inventiveness.

It was not popular to predict that its collective resources of determination and know-how would be sufficient to overcome the latest recession.

But it has not been the prophets of gloom and doom who have justified the phrase "rapid recovery" in the latest Federal Reserve Board report. It has been, rather, the determination of the free enterprise system to make liars of the gloomers and doomers.

Beware Of The Short Perspective

There was unusual interest this year in Dag Hammarskjold's annual report as secretary general of the United Nations.

The interest focused on what he would say about events in the Middle East that caused him to be in sharp disagreement with the military intervention of the United States in Lebanon.

Though he did not report in detail on his subsequent journey to the Middle East on the order of the UN General Assembly, he reported in general as follows:

"The United Nations has served as a framework for fruitful contacts among the Middle East governments and, in the UN observation group in Lebanon, it has been able to organize an activity which, like the UN truce supervision organization and the UN emergency force before it, has had a calming influence on the local situation. . . . The unanimity established among the Arab states, when strengthened by further collaboration among these states, should help in ironing out those conflicts which have limited the extent to which it has been possible, so far, to arrive at constructive expressions, for example, in the economic field of the vital role which the Arab world can play in the international community. A continued development along these lines should lead, step by step, to further progress through joint action."

But a more penetrating observation appeared in the introduction to the UN secretary general's comments on the various categories of the organization's work.

"It is unwise to judge the course of development in too short a perspective," he said. "The essence of political change may not be immediately apparent in the public record of day-to-day events."

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"I'm letting you in on a new quiz scandal. At those press conference quizzes John Foster Dulles gets the answers in advance. — Scout 1890."

We put a man on this. There are some reasons to think the charge is true and that Mr. Dulles is "prepped" in advance. He is not, however, given any training in emotional reactions, such as raising his eyebrows, knotting his forehead, etc. (The secretary thinks his forehead is knotted enough.)

We have not turned the matter over to any district attorney but cite a few questions and answers suggestive of "rigging."

Example No. 1: The question was "Has the United States made a flat decision to help Chiang Kai-shek defend Quemoy?" Dulles could have replied "No comment" or "How are things in Glocca Morra?" both quite naturally. But he came through with a half-column reply which no man could have thought up unassisted.

Example No. 2. Mr. Secretary, do you have any comment on Dean Acheson's statement that we are drifting into war? A routine reply would have been, "Who was that again?" or "Next question, please," but here again Foster leaped to the challenge with a snappy "No, I have no comment on that" which took quick thinking or outside aid.

Example No. 3: A reporter asked, "We are still troubled over the point of obligation by the U.S. to the people of the country on the question of convoying under Chinese shelling. Is it our position that there is no obligation to explain?"

This would have floored many quiz contestants, most of whom would have replied "I'm not positive but it sounds to me like something by Cole Porter." Mr. Dulles' answer was "I thought I had been explaining that throughout this program."

WE ARE CONTINUING our probe and may check on rumors President Eisenhower is fed advance answers during a press quiz. We hear that if a Khrushchev letter is read to him and he is asked to identify it he will reply "That query belongs on the 'Name That Tune' show."

The Undisputed Champion

Steel Workers Eye Auto Industry

By Victor Riesel

ATLANTIC CITY

No one has ever seen Walter Reuther in a bathing suit. And though authoritative sources here believe he never will do as well by one as little ole "Miss Mississippi" did, "Mr. Michigan" is more the topic of conversation here this week than the new "Miss America" was last week.

Victor Riesel

Most of the talk, of course, is among the 3,000 delegates to the Steel Workers Union convention who are wondering whether their companies' biggest customer, the auto industry, will be shut down this fall.

Reuther keeps his strategy under wraps but the Steel Union high command has been informed of what happened behind the locked doors of the Auto Workers' high command last Wednesday in Detroit when it picked the Ford Co. as its strike target.

Reuther, outlining his own tactical plans to his colleagues, reportedly said that the UAW's basic demands could be won most easily and swiftly at Ford. These demands comprise a four-fold "national pattern."

THIS CALLS for increased old age pensions; an increase in the private unemployment insurance —called supplemental unemployment benefits—paid by the auto companies; higher wages, and protection for workers made jobless when a company closes an outmoded plant and either consolidates the work in a factory far off or in a new plant entirely.

Someone pointed out, for example, that Ford, seeking greater efficiency, had consolidated virtually all of its East Coast production in a relatively new installation in Mahwa, N.J. Of necessity, workers from Buffalo to Brooklyn were affected.

While talking about the supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB), another of the Auto Union's high council said that the nickel an hour per man paid by the company into a central pool had done wonders for auto workers laid off this summer.

The company had paid each jobless worker $35 a week while the state had paid him $25. This gave the worker a total of $60, or about 65 per cent of his normal wages. Now the Auto Union wants this total to be increased to 80 per cent of the regular pay. And some day 100 per cent — or the guaranteed annual wage.

The talk then turned to the selection of a target company. A strike at Chrysler might hurt the company for a very long time—and still leave the bigger two of the Big Three to take on. What about General Motors then?

REUTHER POINTED OUT that this would be a tough one because it would really be a two-front industrial war.

The UAW wants a lot more from GM than it does from Ford or Chrysler. It wants the four-point national pattern, of course. But it also wants settlement of scores upon scores of local issues.

GM once charged that the UAW's GM locals had piled up over 9,000 such demands.

Reuther predicted that no contract would be ratified by the GM workers unless the union won some concessions on the most important of these local issues.

One, for example, is equal pay for the same type of work in all plants regardless of their location. And there are all sorts of disagreements with the company on swifter settlement of grievances occurring right in the plants.

Reuther urged that Ford therefore be threatened first. There are no such urgent and complex local issues to be won there. The union can fight at Ford for the four-point national demands. The union strategists believe that Ford will settle quickly.

THE COMPANY, they believe, will not want to be tied up while both its competitors are rolling handsome new cars off the lines by the thousands each day. The Auto Union can turn to GM later, Reuther said.

The fight at GM will be made directly over the local issues. If these are won, Reuther and his colleagues believe GM cannot refuse to yield on the national pattern already signed at Ford. Chrysler then will also have to fall in line.

There may be a quick settlement before the strike deadline expires at Ford. But the Steel Union leaders here can also see the possibility of a long dispute which would cut auto industry orders from the steel mills. This is cause for concern because there are now 250,000 fully unemployed steel unionists and 150,000 on short work weeks.

If there is auto peace, many of these men will go back to work. If not, their ranks could be increased. Everybody is hoping that peace will break out.

Dismal Is The Outlook

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Dismal describes the outlook for three-month meeting of the United Nations General Assembly, opening today.

Its biggest immediate problem: the Red Chinese attack on the Quemoy and Matsu islands and the American refusal to let the Reds take them by force.

Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko will tangle over this. Only an optimist can expect a solution in the U.N.

For, meanwhile, the American and Red Chinese ambassadors to Poland will be discussing the same thing in Warsaw.

Nothing is likely to happen in the U.N. anyway until there's time to see what happens in Warsaw.

And nothing is likely to happen in Warsaw unless the American government is willing to make big concessions to the Chinse Communists.

But Dulles and President Eisenhower got themselves into a kind of box on concessions.

First, they indicated they might make concessions to the Reds if they combed their hair right.

But then Eisenhower said letting the Reds shoot their way into Quemoy and Matsu without fighting them would be appeasement.

It would still be appeasement if this country let the Reds have the islands on the promise they wouldn't shoot their way in if they got them for free.

No doubt the Soviet Union will make a renewed effort to get Red China a seat in the U.N.

But the United States, which acts as if the Red Chinese didn't exist—even though it still may have to fight them and is willing to negotiate with them—has blocked a U.N. seat for them before.

It will maneuver to do so again. It probably has enough friends in the U.N. to get the Assembly once again to sidetrack this issue for a later date and another year.

But there's a chilling side to all this: while Quemoy, Matsu, Chiang Kai-shek and his enemies, the Red Chinese, are windily debated in the U.N., the actual crisis around those offshore islands still remains and could burst into war.

But other things face the U.N. too, and with just about the same small chance of solution.

For instance: disarmament. There'll be some debate but any real progress in that field more likely will come from direct American-Soviet talks.

Then there's the question of getting American troops out of Lebanon, where they landed July 15 at the request of President Chamoun, and British troops out of Jordan, where they landed two days later at King Hussein's request.

The world reaction to the entry of American forces in the Middle East was so bad from the beginning that this country has seemed willing to withdraw if it could be done gracefully.

Gen. Fuad Chehab has since been elected president and will take office Sept. 24. By then or soon after, at Chehab's request, the last of the American troops should have departed.

Not so with the British troops in Jordan, where King Hussein sits on a shaky throne. He's shown no signs of wanting to see his British protectors depart. And it's hard to see what the U.N. can do to nudge them out.

Clock Turned Back

Court Seen Acting On Invalid Premise

The State of Arkansas has not "defied" the Supreme Court of the United States by closing the high schools in Little Rock. Nor has the state of Virginia committed any act of "defiance" by closing schools.

David Lawrence

The federal government has not "defied" the States of Arkansas and Virginia by supporting plans that seek through the courts a means of reopening the public schools.

Each is acting within its own constitutional orbit. The exercise of legal rights to contest the validity of state or federal action is not "defiance." The Federal Constitution itself permits these legal procedures.

It is erroneously being preached that there is only a "moral question" involved and that the states of the South are disregarding it when they contest by legal means the orders of a federal court requiring "integration" in the public schools.

As for "moral questions," unfortunately the North has forgotten but the South hasn't, that the very 14th Amendment on which the present Supreme Court is basing its ruling was born in unmorality and "ratified" in unmorality.

Although Abraham Lincoln had always held that the Southern states had never been out of the Union, Congress—after his death and three years after the war between the states was over—insisted that the Southern states be excluded from representation in the House and Senate.

WHEN THE 14th Amendment was voted on, there was no representation in either house from many states in the Union.

Also, when the state legislatures in the South—subsequent to the war—ratified the 13th Amendment abolishing slavery but rejected the 14th Amendment, as they had a right to do, Congress caused new legislatures to be elected with most white voters excluded, and then, with federal military commanders sitting alongside the presiding officers in the legislative sessions of the state legislatures, "ratification" of the 14th Amendment was compelled.

In case after case the Supreme Court of the United States has always evaded the issue of whether the 14th Amendment was constitutionally "ratified" and has said that this is a "political question" and not within its power to resolve.

Many people are saying that all this happened long ago and that it isn't feasible to turn the clock back now.

The present Supreme Court, however, in its 1954 decision, did turn the clock back 58 years and nullified the "settled law" of the land on the question of "equal but separate" facilities which had been upheld by some of the most eminent men who ever sat on the high court, including its greatest liberals.

What is "settled law"? Abraham Lincoln defined it as something that has been initially decided by the Supreme Court when the issue was first raised, and then "affirmed and reaffirmed" in decisions for years afterwards.

Thus, it is "settled law" today that no state can be compelled to appropriate money or keep schools open or do any affirmative thing just because the federal government may want to see it done.

THE "SETTLED LAW" on this point was proclaimed in a decision known as Hopkins vs. Clemson College, decided in 1911, when Justice Lamar wrote in behalf of the court:

"No suit, therefore, can be maintained against a public officer which seeks to compel him to exercise the state's power of taxation; or to pay out its money in his possession on the state's obligations; or to execute a contract, or to do any affirmative act which affects the state's political or property rights."

But will this be accepted as "settled law" by the present Supreme Court of the United States in the Arkansas and Virginia cases?

Can anything be considered "settled" when the highest court departs from legal precedents and decides cases on the basis of what is "desirable"—the philosophy that the end justifies the means?

There was prophetic vision in a famous dissent by Justice Edward D. White of the Supreme Court, who later became chief justice, as he wrote:

"Teach the lesson that settled principles may be overthrown at any time, and confusion and turmoil must ultimately result.

"If the permanency of its conclusions is to depend upon the personal opinions of those who, from time to time, may make up its membership, it will inevitably become a theater of political strife and its action will be without coherence or consistency.

"Break down this belief in judicial continuity and let it be felt that on great constitutional questions this court is to depart from the settled conclusions of its predecessors and to determine them all according to the mere opinion of those who temporarily fill its bench and our Constitution will, in my judgment, be bereft of value, and become a most dangerous instrument to the rights and liberties of the people."

THAT SOLEMN warning was given in 1895, but only last month the same warning came from the chief justices of 36 states, who adopted a report, made after an exhaustive study by a Committee of Chief Justices of the States, in which the recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States were severely criticized, particularly in the expansion of the 14th Amendment.

The report, approved by the chief justices of three-quarters of the states of the union, said:

"If reasonable certainty and stability do not attach to a written constitution, is it a constitution or is it a sham?

"These frequent differences and occasional overrulings of prior decisions in constitutional cases cause us grave concern as to whether individual views as to what is wise or desirable do not unconsciously override a more dispassionate consideration of what is or is not constitutionally warranted."

Holding Out For Oil

By Rev. M. Rudolph Miller

Editors Note: Some of T. T.'s readers have written vacation columns for him again this year. The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller of the First Presbyterian Church of East Liverpool is among the guest writers.

A couple of months ago my friend Frank bought a gas station; that is, he and the bank bought it together.

Naturally, because Frank is my friend, I keep asking him, "How's the gas station doing?"—expecting him to tell me how many gallons of gas he unloaded that day. But no, he doesn't get excited about the gas. Just let him sell a quart of oil, though, and I can tell it half a block away. He's one great big smile.

The other day, he came into my office practically busting out all over. He had sold two quarts of oil!

So I began to get curious about the oil business. How come a gas station guy can sell 100 gallons of gas and never bat an eye, but let him sell 10 quarts of oil and he's prancing all over the place? It didn't take me long to find out.

There's profit in oil, real profit. The way I see it, Frank would just as soon have you buy your gas from the station across the street, so long as you bought your oil at his place, particularly if you're driving one of the real oil-burning buggies.

Oil is pretty important stuff these days, from the kind you douse your hair with (it must be a certain brand, according to the ads) through cooking oil (especially the kind that doesn't smoke when you put potatoes in it) up to the kind they are fussing about in the Middle East.

It's not money that makes the world go 'round; it's oil. Any kind of oil. Hair oil, Cooking oil, Fish oil. Sunburn oil. SAE-40 oil. Golden oil. Black oil. Oil that took the U.S. Marines to Lebanon.

And speaking of that last-mentioned oil, I have another friend who ought to know what he's talking about, because he has had his fingers in the Middle Eastern pie a number of years. He says it's not kings and oil we ought to be concerned with over there, but people and water. I think he has something.

But I'm still holding out for oil. I started with oil, and I'm going to end with oil. The kind of oil I especially favor is the anti-squeak variety. Squirt a few drops of this on your creaking front-door hinges and 15 of the neighborhood broncobusters won't get a peep out of you during your Sunday afternoon snooze. But don't stop there.

Try it out on the missus. You'd be surprised what wonders it will perform. I advocate generous use of anti-squeak oil everywhere.

If you're a sales person, try it on the customers. I'll bet you double your sales. Kids should try it on the teacher.

Maybe oil doesn't make the wheels of life go 'round, but it sure does make them go 'round a lot smoother and quieter.

My friend Frank at the gas station has the right idea. It's oil we need, especially anti-squeak. There's real profit in it.

"I'm letting you in on a new quiz scandal. At those press conference quizzes John Foster Dulles gets the answers in advance. — Scout 1890."

We put a man on this. There are some reasons to think the charge is true and that Mr. Dulles is "prepped" in advance. He is not, however, given any training in emotional reactions, such as raising his eyebrows, knotting his forehead, etc. (The secretary thinks his forehead is knotted enough.)

We have not turned the matter over to any district attorney but cite a few questions and answers suggestive of "rigging."

Example No. 1: The question was "Has the United States made a flat decision to help Chiang Kai-shek defend Quemoy?" Dulles could have replied "No comment" or "How are things in Glocca Morra?" both quite naturally. But he came through with a half-column reply which no man could have thought up unassisted.

Example No. 2. Mr. Secretary, do you have any comment on Dean Acheson's statement that we are drifting into war? A routine reply would have been, "Who was that again?" or "Next question, please," but here again Foster leaped to the challenge with a snappy "No, I have no comment on that" which took quick thinking or outside aid.

Example No. 3: A reporter asked, "We are still troubled over the point of obligation by the U.S. to the people of the country on the question of convoying under Chinese shelling. Is it our position that there is no obligation to explain?"

This would have floored many quiz contestants, most of whom would have replied "I'm not positive but it sounds to me like something by Cole Porter." Mr. Dulles' answer was "I thought I had been explaining that throughout this program."

WE ARE CONTINUING our probe and may check on rumors President Eisenhower is fed advance answers during a press quiz. We hear that if a Khrushchev letter is read to him and he is asked to identify it he will reply "That query belongs on the 'Name That Tune' show."

THE GOP WILL MAKE door - to - door campaign for a dollar to win elections. This means a lot of collectors working in Democratic neighborhoods will have to use that old explanation, "I slipped and my eye hit a door knob."

Psychiatrist asked to examine man who had stolen a shirt made a 12-page report saying, "He comprehends spoken word with unclouded sensorium and unimpared sensitivity except for bad hearing in left ear. The Undisputed Champion

Steel Workers Eye Auto Industry

By Victor Riesel

ATLANTIC CITY

No one has ever seen Walter Reuther in a bathing suit. And though authoritative sources here believe he never will do as well by one as little ole "Miss Mississippi" did, "Mr. Michigan" is more the topic of conversation here this week than the new "Miss America" was last week.

Victor Riesel

Most of the talk, of course, is among the 3,000 delegates to the Steel Workers Union convention who are wondering whether their companies' biggest customer, the auto industry, will be shut down this fall.

Reuther keeps his strategy under wraps but the Steel Union high command has been informed of what happened behind the locked doors of the Auto Workers' high command last Wednesday in Detroit when it picked the Ford Co. as its strike target.

Reuther, outlining his own tactical plans to his colleagues, reportedly said that the UAW's basic demands could be won most easily and swiftly at Ford. These demands comprise a four-fold "national pattern."

THIS CALLS for increased old age pensions; an increase in the private unemployment insurance —called supplemental unemployment benefits—paid by the auto companies; higher wages, and protection for workers made jobless when a company closes an outmoded plant and either consolidates the work in a factory far off or in a new plant entirely.

Someone pointed out, for example, that Ford, seeking greater efficiency, had consolidated virtually all of its East Coast production in a relatively new installation in Mahwa, N.J. Of necessity, workers from Buffalo to Brooklyn were affected.

While talking about the supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB), another of the Auto Union's high council said that the nickel an hour per man paid by the company into a central pool had done wonders for auto workers laid off this summer.

The company had paid each jobless worker $35 a week while the state had paid him $25. This gave the worker a total of $60, or about 65 per cent of his normal wages. Now the Auto Union wants this total to be increased to 80 per cent of the regular pay. And some day 100 per cent — or the guaranteed annual wage.

The talk then turned to the selection of a target company. A strike at Chrysler might hurt the company for a very long time—and still leave the bigger two of the Big Three to take on. What about General Motors then?

REUTHER POINTED OUT that this would be a tough one because it would really be a two-front industrial war.

The UAW wants a lot more from GM than it does from Ford or Chrysler. It wants the four-point national pattern, of course. But it also wants settlement of scores upon scores of local issues.

GM once charged that the UAW's GM locals had piled up over 9,000 such demands.

Reuther predicted that no contract would be ratified by the GM workers unless the union won some concessions on the most important of these local issues.

One, for example, is equal pay for the same type of work in all plants regardless of their location. And there are all sorts of disagreements with the company on swifter settlement of grievances occurring right in the plants.

Reuther urged that Ford therefore be threatened first. There are no such urgent and complex local issues to be won there. The union can fight at Ford for the four-point national demands. The union strategists believe that Ford will settle quickly.

THE COMPANY, they believe, will not want to be tied up while both its competitors are rolling handsome new cars off the lines by the thousands each day. The Auto Union can turn to GM later, Reuther said.

The fight at GM will be made directly over the local issues. If these are won, Reuther and his colleagues believe GM cannot refuse to yield on the national pattern already signed at Ford. Chrysler then will also have to fall in line.

There may be a quick settlement before the strike deadline expires at Ford. But the Steel Union leaders here can also see the possibility of a long dispute which would cut auto industry orders from the steel mills. This is cause for concern because there are now 250,000 fully unemployed steel unionists and 150,000 on short work weeks.

If there is auto peace, many of these men will go back to work. If not, their ranks could be increased. Everybody is hoping that peace will break out.

Dismal Is The Outlook

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Dismal describes the outlook for three-month meeting of the United Nations General Assembly, opening today.

Its biggest immediate problem: the Red Chinese attack on the Quemoy and Matsu islands and the American refusal to let the Reds take them by force.

Secretary of State Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko will tangle over this. Only an optimist can expect a solution in the U.N.

For, meanwhile, the American and Red Chinese ambassadors to Poland will be discussing the same thing in Warsaw.

Nothing is likely to happen in the U.N. anyway until there's time to see what happens in Warsaw.

And nothing is likely to happen in Warsaw unless the American government is willing to make big concessions to the Chinse Communists.

But Dulles and President Eisenhower got themselves into a kind of box on concessions.

First, they indicated they might make concessions to the Reds if they combed their hair right.

But then Eisenhower said letting the Reds shoot their way into Quemoy and Matsu without fighting them would be appeasement.

It would still be appeasement if this country let the Reds have the islands on the promise they wouldn't shoot their way in if they got them for free.

No doubt the Soviet Union will make a renewed effort to get Red China a seat in the U.N.

But the United States, which acts as if the Red Chinese didn't exist—even though it still may have to fight them and is willing to negotiate with them—has blocked a U.N. seat for them before.

It will maneuver to do so again. It probably has enough friends in the U.N. to get the Assembly once again to sidetrack this issue for a later date and another year.

But there's a chilling side to all this: while Quemoy, Matsu, Chiang Kai-shek and his enemies, the Red Chinese, are windily debated in the U.N., the actual crisis around those offshore islands still remains and could burst into war.

But other things face the U.N. too, and with just about the same small chance of solution.

For instance: disarmament. There'll be some debate but any real progress in that field more likely will come from direct American-Soviet talks.

Then there's the question of getting American troops out of Lebanon, where they landed July 15 at the request of President Chamoun, and British troops out of Jordan, where they landed two days later at King Hussein's request.

The world reaction to the entry of American forces in the Middle East was so bad from the beginning that this country has seemed willing to withdraw if it could be done gracefully.

Gen. Fuad Chehab has since been elected president and will take office Sept. 24. By then or soon after, at Chehab's request, the last of the American troops should have departed.

Not so with the British troops in Jordan, where King Hussein sits on a shaky throne. He's shown no signs of wanting to see his British protectors depart. And it's hard to see what the U.N. can do to nudge them out.

Clock Turned Back

By David Lawrence

Court Seen Acting On Invalid Premise

The State of Arkansas has not "defied" the Supreme Court of the United States by closing the high schools in Little Rock. Nor has the state of Virginia committed any act of "defiance" by closing schools.

David Lawrence

The federal government has not "defied" the States of Arkansas and Virginia by supporting plans that seek through the courts a means of reopening the public schools.

Each is acting within its own constitutional orbit. The exercise of legal rights to contest the validity of state or federal action is not "defiance." The Federal Constitution itself permits these legal procedures.

It is erroneously being preached that there is only a "moral question" involved and that the states of the South are disregarding it when they contest by legal means the orders of a federal court requiring "integration" in the public schools.

As for "moral questions," unfortunately the North has forgotten but the South hasn't, that the very 14th Amendment on which the present Supreme Court is basing its ruling was born in unmorality and "ratified" in unmorality.

Although Abraham Lincoln had always held that the Southern states had never been out of the Union, Congress—after his death and three years after the war between the states was over—insisted that the Southern states be excluded from representation in the House and Senate.

WHEN THE 14th Amendment was voted on, there was no representation in either house from many states in the Union.

Also, when the state legislatures in the South—subsequent to the war—ratified the 13th Amendment abolishing slavery but rejected the 14th Amendment, as they had a right to do, Congress caused new legislatures to be elected with most white voters excluded, and then, with federal military commanders sitting alongside the presiding officers in the legislative sessions of the state legislatures, "ratification" of the 14th Amendment was compelled.

In case after case the Supreme Court of the United States has always evaded the issue of whether the 14th Amendment was constitutionally "ratified" and has said that this is a "political question" and not within its power to resolve.

Many people are saying that all this happened long ago and that it isn't feasible to turn the clock back now.

The present Supreme Court, however, in its 1954 decision, did turn the clock back 58 years and nullified the "settled law" of the land on the question of "equal but separate" facilities which had been upheld by some of the most eminent men who ever sat on the high court, including its greatest liberals.

What is "settled law"? Abraham Lincoln defined it as something that has been initially decided by the Supreme Court when the issue was first raised, and then "affirmed and reaffirmed" in decisions for years afterwards.

Thus, it is "settled law" today that no state can be compelled to appropriate money or keep schools open or do any affirmative thing just because the federal government may want to see it done.

THE "SETTLED LAW" on this point was proclaimed in a decision known as Hopkins vs. Clemson College, decided in 1911, when Justice Lamar wrote in behalf of the court:

"No suit, therefore, can be maintained against a public officer which seeks to compel him to exercise the state's power of taxation; or to pay out its money in his possession on the state's obligations; or to execute a contract, or to do any affirmative act which affects the state's political or property rights."

But will this be accepted as "settled law" by the present Supreme Court of the United States in the Arkansas and Virginia cases?

Can anything be considered "settled" when the highest court departs from legal precedents and decides cases on the basis of what is "desirable"—the philosophy that the end justifies the means?

There was prophetic vision in a famous dissent by Justice Edward D. White of the Supreme Court, who later became chief justice, as he wrote:

"Teach the lesson that settled principles may be overthrown at any time, and confusion and turmoil must ultimately result.

"If the permanency of its conclusions is to depend upon the personal opinions of those who, from time to time, may make up its membership, it will inevitably become a theater of political strife and its action will be without coherence or consistency.

"Break down this belief in judicial continuity and let it be felt that on great constitutional questions this court is to depart from the settled conclusions of its predecessors and to determine them all according to the mere opinion of those who temporarily fill its bench and our Constitution will, in my judgment, be bereft of value, and become a most dangerous instrument to the rights and liberties of the people."

THAT SOLEMN warning was given in 1895, but only last month the same warning came from the chief justices of 36 states, who adopted a report, made after an exhaustive study by a Committee of Chief Justices of the States, in which the recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States were severely criticized, particularly in the expansion of the 14th Amendment.

The report, approved by the chief justices of three-quarters of the states of the union, said:

"If reasonable certainty and stability do not attach to a written constitution, is it a constitution or is it a sham?

"These frequent differences and occasional overrulings of prior decisions in constitutional cases cause us grave concern as to whether individual views as to what is wise or desirable do not unconsciously override a more dispassionate consideration of what is or is not constitutionally warranted."

Holding Out For Oil

By Rev. M. Rudolph Miller

Editors Note: Some of T. T.'s readers have written vacation columns for him again this year. The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller of the First Presbyterian Church of East Liverpool is among the guest writers.

A couple of months ago my friend Frank bought a gas station; that is, he and the bank bought it together.

Naturally, because Frank is my friend, I keep asking him, "How's the gas station doing?"—expecting him to tell me how many gallons of gas he unloaded that day. But no, he doesn't get excited about the gas. Just let him sell a quart of oil, though, and I can tell it half a block away. He's one great big smile.

The other day, he came into my office practically busting out all over. He had sold two quarts of oil!

So I began to get curious about the oil business. How come a gas station guy can sell 100 gallons of gas and never bat an eye, but let him sell 10 quarts of oil and he's prancing all over the place? It didn't take me long to find out.

There's profit in oil, real profit. The way I see it, Frank would just as soon have you buy your gas from the station across the street, so long as you bought your oil at his place, particularly if you're driving one of the real oil-burning buggies.

Oil is pretty important stuff these days, from the kind you douse your hair with (it must be a certain brand, according to the ads) through cooking oil (especially the kind that doesn't smoke when you put potatoes in it) up to the kind they are fussing about in the Middle East.

It's not money that makes the world go 'round; it's oil. Any kind of oil. Hair oil, Cooking oil, Fish oil. Sunburn oil. SAE-40 oil. Golden oil. Black oil. Oil that took the U.S. Marines to Lebanon.

And speaking of that last-mentioned oil, I have another friend who ought to know what he's talking about, because he has had his fingers in the Middle Eastern pie a number of years. He says it's not kings and oil we ought to be concerned with over there, but people and water. I think he has something.

But I'm still holding out for oil. I started with oil, and I'm going to end with oil. The kind of oil I especially favor is the anti-squeak variety. Squirt a few drops of this on your creaking front-door hinges and 15 of the neighborhood broncobusters won't get a peep out of you during your Sunday afternoon snooze. But don't stop there.

Try it out on the missus. You'd be surprised what wonders it will perform. I advocate generous use of anti-squeak oil everywhere.

If you're a sales person, try it on the customers. I'll bet you double your sales. Kids should try it on the teacher.

Maybe oil doesn't make the wheels of life go 'round, but it sure does make them go 'round a lot smoother and quieter.

My friend Frank at the gas station has the right idea. It's oil we need, especially anti-squeak. There's real profit in it.

Sept. 28 End Of DST Urged

Council And Board Will Seek Solution

suggestion after Supt. Ralph W. Betts reported he had been told privately that City Council will not take any action on the board's request to end Daylight Saving Time on the last Sunday in September. The "fast" time will continue through October. Most communities end DST Sept. 28.

No formal report has been presented to Council but several councilmen have indicated no change will be made in the "fast" time, the superintendent said.

Lowe said he received one call about a change in starting times and said he had anticipated a letter to the board. However, none was received. He said the board could change the starting time without a change in the official city time.

THE SUPERINTENDENT pointed out a later starting time would extend the dismissal time until 4:30 or 4:45 p. m., putting school busses on the streets during the evening rush hour, interfering with students who have part-time jobs and also interfering with many school activities.

"It's my opinion, since Council will not take any action to curtail Daylight Saving Time, that we remain on the same schedule," Betts said, explaining it is no different than the one that has been in operation for years.

Betts said school officials made a survey in October 1957 which showed six "heavy" fogs during the 23 school days.

James Moss, who has favored curtailment of "fast" time previously, said he could see no reason for the extra four weeks but said he doesn't believe a later starting time would be acceptable to the people: "It would throw the city into an awful turmoil," he maintained.

C. WALTER ASHBAUGH, the third member present, pointed out Council extended "fast" time one month several years ago when many other area cities did the same, including Midland where many city residents are employed at the Crucible Steel Co.

Lowe said "lots of people" favor an immediate change in the starting time and said the board might be criticized severely in event of a school bus accident. However, Moss and Betts said the board probably would be criticized on a bus accident "at any hour."

Moss declared a change in the starting time "hardly seems to be the answer" and suggested city residents vote on whether "fast" time be changed. Lowe said he believes the change "is the only answer."

"It will disturb me if it is not changed," the board president commented in ending the discussion.

The board received a letter from Mayor Fred P. Lawrence reporting that its request for reinstallation of a traffic signal at W. 8th St. and Edwards Ave. has been referred to Council's streets committee.

THE SUPERINTENDENT said he has conferred on the matter twice with Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti and was informed the State Highway Department opposes replacing the signal and said he understood the streets committee also is opposed.

Lowe pointed out the board made the request Aug. 19 but still no action has been taken. He urged the light be replaced immediately.

Betts said he also discussed with the director the intersection of Shadyside Ave. and Route 7, which he termed the most "worrisome" for school officials.

He pointed out three school buses must cross the westbound lane of Route 7 to enter the eastbound lane within 45 minutes and foggy mornings make it virtually impossible for the bus driver to see approaching traffic.

He said the director assured him that a police cruiser would be assigned to the intersection on foggy mornings to aid the school buses in making the crossing.

THE DIRECTOR also is considering a permanent solution. The solution might be portable blinker lights which could be placed in each traffic lane to warn approaching motorists, the superintendent reported.

Council's discussion of the time question started with an appearance by Charles Haugh and Frank Hopper, both of Orchard Grove Ave., who said they raised the point at the board meeting a little earleir.

Hopper, the principal spokesman, said the board advised him of its letter to Council requesting a change in time and explained it never received an answer. He asked if there is "a good reason" why Council did not answer the letter.

"Because of the location of East Liverpool, it seems it would not be feasible to cut out daylight time at the end of September," Councilman George E. Willshaw replied. "Quite a few of our people work in Midland. In this locality, we would be out of step if we did that. As for the fog, it is a bad condition, but sometimes it doesn't clear up until 10 or 11 in the morning."

"Why can't the board start school an hour later until the city returns to standard time?" Councilman A. Stanley Kidder asked. "If they're so concerned as they seem to be, why don't we answer them in that way?"

THEN HAUGH explained the board already has considered later starting times and explained its reasons against the change.

Councilman Samuel Webber, seconded by Councilman William Y. Orr, moved to return the school board's letter to the floor for discussion and a reply from Council.

Then Councilman H. A. Tullis pointed out Council already had discussed a meeting with the board to talk over the need for an additional school crossing guard at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts. The time question could be aired at the same meeting, he said.

Council accepted the suggestion from Tullis. President B. E. Warner said he hopes to arrange a meeting with the board "within the next few days."

Hopper told Council a school zone sign is needed on Orchard Grove Ave. near the Lincoln School to cut down speeding. He also complained that he has seen several motorists pass halted school buses, contrary to city ordinance.

The suggestion for hiring a new school guard was made by Maggianetti. He said protection is needed for children alighting from a school bus at the intersection, which has no traffic light.

raid wardens. The CD volunteers can be useful to the city in policing crowds and traffic at parades and other public functions in addition to their duties if the area was hit by a natural disaster or enemy attack, the director said.

He said the $1,000 is needed for equipment and training expenses. The director requested a $250 fund to pay the expenses of a fire department training program. He said the money would cover the cost of sending firemen to schools recommended by the state fire marshal's office. He also called for $275 to pay uniform allowances to five men recently added to the fire department.

He suggested the city pay the premium for bonding "Meter Maids," who collect parking penalties and sell bicycle licenses, and the clerk in the mayor's and director's offices, who collects fees for city permits and licenses. At present, none of the workers is bonded, he said.

The director also suggested establishing a fee of $1 for copies of official police reports produced on a new copying machine purchased for the department. Police feel there should be a charge for the service "to keep requests under control" and insurance companies are willing to pay a $1 fee, Maggianetti said. Insurance companies frequently obtain copies of police reports as part of their claim investigations.

Maggianetti said an additional $600 appropriation is needed in the fund for care and maintenance of City Hall. The year's appropriation virtually has been exhausted by the expense of work on the new city income tax office, the police record room and the public health nurse's office and clinic of the Health Department.

Maggianetti suggested establishment of a $300 fund for refund of sewage service charges made mistakenly against properties not hooked onto a sanitary line.

Councilman A. Stanley Kidder remarked that the legislation should provide for refunds in cases "where a sewer is not available." He said legislation requires a charge against a property that is not connected to a sanitary line if one is readily available.

In addition to the letter, Maggianetti filed a verbal request for $800 more for the fire department. He said $500 is needed for the motor maintenance funds and $300 will be used to buy new equipment for fighting gasoline and oil fires.

The equipment for gas and oil fires is a device that feeds a smothering foam into the fire hose. At present, the department's only such equipment is fog nozzles, which virtually are useless against gasoline fires.

He declared East Liverpool needs the equipment badly because of the large number of big gasoline and oil tankers that travel through the city on state and federal routes.

In connection with the appropriation for expenses of firemen attending school, Councilman William Y. Orr said Council might consider legislation paying the money in advance.

Some city employes are not able to pay expenses in advance out of their own pockets, so must borrow the money from a bank if they want to take advantage of the training, he said. The city does not pay the expenses until the men return, he explained.

"I don't think there is a law that says the city can't pay the expenses in advance," Kidder remarked. "I think it is simply a custom or established procedure here. I think we could pass a resolution for the auditor to pay at least part of the money in advance."

Kidder said he hopes to obtain more information on the question when he attends a meeting of the Ohio Municipal Conference Wednesday through Friday at Columbus.

"I think that's a matter for our legal adviser, the city solicitor," Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. said. "We had a discussion on this previously and we looked it up in the city code."

"This question came up because a man came to me and explained he had an opportunity to go to school but had to turn it down because he couldn't afford to finance it himself in advance," Orr said.

The discussion ended when Council approved a motion from Councilman Samuel Webber to refer the question to the finance committee for consultation with Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper.

North Africans Carry Terrorism Into Marseille

MARSEILLE, France (AP) — North Africans carried their campaign of terrorism inside a military camp in Marseille today and blew up a tank. One soldier was killed and six wounded.

Other terrorists set a bomb under a 12-ton fuel storage tank in the city but it was discovered before it went off.

A charge Monday rocked the local government headquarters, wounding four persons.

Police in Le Havre reported a bomb exploded Monday night in the port area under a tanker containing sulphuric acid. Nobody was injured and damage was slight.

Violence also erupted Monday night in eastern France where Europeans clashed with North Africans in three cities. Eight persons were injured.

The violence reflected French anger over the wave of terrorism which has been fatal to 14 Frenchmen since Aug. 25.

City Personnel To Get Mileage For Auto Use

Council approved legislation Monday night authorizing payment of 8 cents a mile to city employes and officials who use their private cars on official business and to councilmen on out - of - town trips cleared in advance with the mayor or Council president.

Payment of the mileage was made retroactive to July 15. In the case of officials and employes, use of the car on city business must be approved in advance by department heads, the legislation provides.

Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper said the resolution will not affect Health Board employes and Municipal Court Bailiff O. Earl Greenawalt, who now are paid flat monthly sums for use of their cars on city business. That's because Health Board and court workers are not "city officials or employes" within the meaning of the ordinance, he explained.

Cooper said the 8 - cent rate is the mileage fee currently paid by state offices and departments.

Plans to send two representative at the Legion Leadership School in Columbus Saturday and Sunday were completed at the meeting of American Legion Post 374 Monday night in the East End home.

The next meeting is Monday.

LISBON — Margarette S. Blocksom of R. D. 5 forfeited $10 for ignoring a stop sign at a hearing before Mayor John Todd Monday and Charles W. Kawalski, 47, of Warren $10 for crossing the yellow line. Both were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

St. Clair Trustees Act To Keep Drains Open

St. Clair Township trustees Monday night adopted a motion requiring all property owners to comply with a section of the Ohio Revised Code which requires all property owners to keep sewers and drains open in front of their lots.

A delegation from Lincoln Ave. in the Sub-station area requested the street be sewered and repaired.

The trustees accepted Broad and Singer Sts. as presented by Ralph Knepper of Calcutta in a plot he developed.

2 Motorists Fined

NEW CUMBERLAND — Squire John Herron Monday fined Larry G. Brown, 17, of Weirton and Chester Bintliff, 28, of Houston, Tex., $10 each on reckless driving after their arrest by sheriff's deputies. Arnold Gorman of Detroit posted $17 for a hearing Wednesday on a charge of improper passing filed by state police.

Ford, UAW Try Again To Reach Accord

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers tried again today to reach agreement on a new contract with a strike deadline for 108,000 Ford workers less than 24 hours away.

Ford joined the other members of the automotive Big Three — Chrysler Corp. and General Motors Corp. — in offering a three-year contract to the UAW Monday.

UAW President Walter Reuther described the Ford offer as "deficient in many respects" but added it provided a basis from which the Ford-UAW negotiators could strive for agreement before the strike hour at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

UAW sources said the three contract proposals were identical insofar as economic issues—wages, unemployment benefits, pensions and cost of living allowances — were concerned. They said the contracts differed only on minor matters involving local plant situations.

Neither side would disclose specifics about the new offers.

Reuther and other UAW officials criticized the general contract offered by the Big Three and said it proved that the three auto makers were engaging in industrywide bargaining.

Reliable sources said the proposals included:

1—Continuation of extra payments when the cost of living goes up.

2 — Extension of company-financed Supplemental Unemployment Benefit payments from 26 to 39 weeks with an increase in the $25 maximum paid under the old contract.

3—Increase in pensions for retired workers from $2.25 per month for each year worked to $2.40.

4 — Additional pay for skilled workers.

5—Continuation of the annual improvement factor under which workers receive a yearly increase of six cents an hour or 2½ per cent of their hourly wage.

Mayor Gives Warning

PRESTONBURG, Ky. (AP) — Lack of storm sewers in the center of town could mean trouble if heavy rains come, Mayor Bill Napier says. They were disconnected while work progressed on a sewer line, part of a $300,000 flood protection job now halted because 25 employes of S. T. Kenyon Co. of Portsmouth, Ohio, walked out Wednesday. Discharge of a union steward and other grievances of the Laborers and Hodcarriers Union are blamed.

Palestine PTA To Hear School Clinic Report

EAST PALESTINE — James Vocature, East Palestine city health commissioner, will present a report on the pre-school clinic held in June at the first meeting of the Parent-Teacher Organization Wednesday at the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Herbert Bush, president, will preside.

Sept. 28 End Of DST Urged

Council And Board Will Seek Solution

suggestion after Supt. Ralph W. Betts reported he had been told privately that City Council will not take any action on the board's request to end Daylight Saving Time on the last Sunday in September. The "fast" time will continue through October. Most communities end DST Sept. 28.

No formal report has been presented to Council but several councilmen have indicated no change will be made in the "fast" time, the superintendent said.

Lowe said he received one call about a change in starting times and said he had anticipated a letter to the board. However, none was received. He said the board could change the starting time without a change in the official city time.

THE SUPERINTENDENT pointed out a later starting time would extend the dismissal time until 4:30 or 4:45 p. m., putting school busses on the streets during the evening rush hour, interfering with students who have part-time jobs and also interfering with many school activities.

"It's my opinion, since Council will not take any action to curtail Daylight Saving Time, that we remain on the same schedule," Betts said, explaining it is no different than the one that has been in operation for years.

Betts said school officials made a survey in October 1957 which showed six "heavy" fogs during the 23 school days.

James Moss, who has favored curtailment of "fast" time previously, said he could see no reason for the extra four weeks but said he doesn't believe a later starting time would be acceptable to the people: "It would throw the city into an awful turmoil," he maintained.

C. WALTER ASHBAUGH, the third member present, pointed out Council extended "fast" time one month several years ago when many other area cities did the same, including Midland where many city residents are employed at the Crucible Steel Co.

Lowe said "lots of people" favor an immediate change in the starting time and said the board might be criticized severely in event of a school bus accident. However, Moss and Betts said the board probably would be criticized on a bus accident "at any hour."

Moss declared a change in the starting time "hardly seems to be the answer" and suggested city residents vote on whether "fast" time be changed. Lowe said he believes the change "is the only answer."

"It will disturb me if it is not changed," the board president commented in ending the discussion.

The board received a letter from Mayor Fred P. Lawrence reporting that its request for reinstallation of a traffic signal at W. 8th St. and Edwards Ave. has been referred to Council's streets committee.

THE SUPERINTENDENT said he has conferred on the matter twice with Safety-Service Director Dan Maggianetti and was informed the State Highway Department opposes replacing the signal and said he understood the streets committee also is opposed.

Lowe pointed out the board made the request Aug. 19 but still no action has been taken. He urged the light be replaced immediately.

Betts said he also discussed with the director the intersection of Shadyside Ave. and Route 7, which he termed the most "worrisome" for school officials.

He pointed out three school buses must cross the westbound lane of Route 7 to enter the eastbound lane within 45 minutes and foggy mornings make it virtually impossible for the bus driver to see approaching traffic.

He said the director assured him that a police cruiser would be assigned to the intersection on foggy mornings to aid the school buses in making the crossing.

THE DIRECTOR also is considering a permanent solution. The solution might be portable blinker lights which could be placed in each traffic lane to warn approaching motorists, the superintendent reported.

Council's discussion of the time question started with an appearance by Charles Haugh and Frank Hopper, both of Orchard Grove Ave., who said they raised the point at the board meeting a little earleir.

Hopper, the principal spokesman, said the board advised him of its letter to Council requesting a change in time and explained it never received an answer. He asked if there is "a good reason" why Council did not answer the letter.

"Because of the location of East Liverpool, it seems it would not be feasible to cut out daylight time at the end of September," Councilman George E. Willshaw replied. "Quite a few of our people work in Midland. In this locality, we would be out of step if we did that. As for the fog, it is a bad condition, but sometimes it doesn't clear up until 10 or 11 in the morning."

"Why can't the board start school an hour later until the city returns to standard time?" Councilman A. Stanley Kidder asked. "If they're so concerned as they seem to be, why don't we answer them in that way?"

THEN HAUGH explained the board already has considered later starting times and explained its reasons against the change.

Councilman Samuel Webber, seconded by Councilman William Y. Orr, moved to return the school board's letter to the floor for discussion and a reply from Council.

Then Councilman H. A. Tullis pointed out Council already had discussed a meeting with the board to talk over the need for an additional school crossing guard at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts. The time question could be aired at the same meeting, he said.

Council accepted the suggestion from Tullis. President B. E. Warner said he hopes to arrange a meeting with the board "within the next few days."

▸▸ a NEW IDEA for a NEW ERA

Auto insurance that's actually "merit-rated"

NOW—YOUR ACCIDENT RECORD SETS YOUR RATE WITH THE EXCLUSIVE "SAFE-T-RATE" PLAN BY NATIONWIDE!

Q. WHAT IS SAFE-T-RATE?

A. It's the very newest idea in auto insurance—a completely new method of setting your auto insurance rates—on a merit-demerit basis. This means you receive premium discounts for safe driving...increases for accidents. So the cost of your auto insurance goes DOWN—or UP—depending on your accident record!

Q. HOW IS SAFE-T-RATE DIFFERENT?

A. With this bold new idea in auto insurance, you are responsible for setting your own rates—higher rates as well as lower rates. This way you share the rewards of good driving...also the risks of poor driving. SAFE-T-RATE is "do-it-yourself" auto insurance—depending on how you perform behind the wheel of your car!

Q. WHAT DOES SAFE-T-RATE COVER?

A. In addition to this new idea in setting rates, this auto insurance plan gives you really broad coverage. For example—there are over 20 liberalized benefits, including solid protection against liability, collision and comprehensive damage—designed for you in one of several convenient "protection packages". Here's a hard to beat combination—a bold new idea in auto insurance that lets you set your own rates...while you choose your own "package" of quality protection!

Q. WHY IS NATIONWIDE INTRODUCING SAFE-T-RATE?

A. Because this new idea was suggested by Nationwide policyholders—and Nationwide takes these suggestions seriously. The thought of rewarding safe drivers was suggested at meetings of Nationwide's ADVISORY COMMITTEE OF POLICYHOLDERS. The result? A new auto insurance company—Nationwide General Insurance—organized exclusively on a merit-demerit basis.

Q. HOW DOES SAFE-T-RATE WORK?

A. SEE CHART AT RIGHT:

The plan offers 9 possible rates for policyholders—ranging from 60 per cent of the "base rate" to 400 per cent above base. The four top levels are called "debits". The four lower ones are called "credits". In the middle is the "Base Rate". The rate you pay when you enter the plan is determined by your previous accident* and auto insurance history. But after your first year, the cost of your auto insurance goes down or up—depending on your safety record in this plan!

For example: Suppose you enter the plan at a base rate of $100 a year for your auto insurance...

If you maintain an accident-free record, your rate each year would drop to $89...$79...$69...and, finally to $60. Here your rate stays—unless you have an accident.* This accident puts you back to the base rate of $100—where you can begin again to reduce your insurance costs by safe driving in successive years.

If, on the other hand, you have 2 or more accidents during your first year, your rate at the end of the policy year will jump according to the number of accidents you have.

For example, two accidents put your rate at $141; three accidents at $200; four accidents at $282; and five accidents at $400. That's your ceiling. Your rate stops there until you have an accident-free year. Then it drops back to $200. And two accident-free years in a row returns your rate to the base rate—or $100.

An accident is defined as any loss involving an insured vehicle, except loss to the vehicle while it is unattended or parked.*

Graham-Seevers Rites Held At Boyce Methodist Church

A cameo ring and a white Bible were used in the tradition of "something old and something borrowed" by Miss Joyce Ann Graham at her marriage Saturday night to Thomas Seevers.

Open church was observed for the 7:30 o'clock candlelight rites in Boyce Methodist Church. Palms, ferns and lighted tapers in seven-branched candelabra formed the altar setting, accented with two lighted candles on the communion table.

The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gail McQueen, pastor, and the Rev. Sylvester P. Ozmun of Newcomerstown, a former local pastor who was succeeded by Rev. McQueen.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Graham, 2149 Michigan Ave., the bride is a bookkeeper at the First National Bank. The bridegroom, an apprentice printer at the Review, is the son of Mrs. Wells Conkle, 1814 Harvey Ave.

Vocal selections by Mrs. Barbara Stevens, a co-worker of the bride, included "The Wedding Hymn", "Because", "If I Could Tell You" (Firestone) and "The Lord's Prayer." A half-hour recital of traditional music was presented by Mrs. William Golba Jr., church organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. Long sleeves and a jewel neckline highlighted the fitted lace bodice and the full floor length skirt of nylon tulle featured a front lace panel. Her fingertip veil of illusion draped from a crown of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried an arrangement of white carnations and stephanotis on a white Bible, belonging to Mrs. Stevens and used at her recent marriage. The cameo ring belonged to the bride's late maternal grandfather, John Lackey, and was attached to the blue garter worn by the bride.

Her sister, Mrs. Donna Nusser of Wellsville, was matron of honor in mint green nylon net. A matching draped stole was worn over the strapless bodice. The dark green velvet sash fastened in a bow at the back and the streamers draped to the floor length hemline. Her matching head bandeau featured a side feathered effect. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations tinted to match her gown.

Mrs. JoAnn Birch was bridesmaid in an identical dress in orchid nylon net, accented with a sash of deep purple velvet. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations tinted to match her gown and wore a matching head bandeau.

Little Susan Murray, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Murray and niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore blue organdy and carried a basket filled with white flowers intermingled with others in orchid and green to reflect the theme of the attendant's gowns.

Ushers included Larry Nusser of Wellsville, brother-in-law of the bride, Robert Seevers of Marietta and Ted Seevers, brothers of the bridegroom, and Floyd Murray, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A mauve pink lace dress over taffeta and a matching velvet hat was worn by Mrs. Graham with black accessories. Mrs. Conkle wore pink lace over taffeta with a black hat with white feather trim and black accessories. Both were corsages of purple-throated white orchids.

Aides were Mrs. Claudette Korinsky, Mrs. Rhea Monroe of Beaver, Mrs. Donna Perkins, Mrs. Shirlene Doland, Mrs. Ruth Williamson and Mrs. Jean Adkins.

The three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple and miniature white swans were at the base. Silver leaves were additional decorations for the cake arranged in a setting of orchid-maline intermingled with pale green bows.

The dolls on the bride's table were dressed in gowns to match those of the attendants. Background piano music was provided by Francis Cubberley.

Upon their return from a honeymoon at Blackwater Falls, Va., the couple will reside in an apartment at 1846 Harvey Ave.

For traveling, the bride was attired in a black and white suit and black accessories.

Guests included Mrs. Ozmun of Newcomerstown, wife of the former pastor, Mrs. Della Carney of Columbiana, great aunt of the bride, Francis McCall and William McCall, of Rogers, cousins of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Doughty of Ohioville, cousins of the bridegroom.

Both are 1952 graduates of the East Liverpool High School. The bridegroom served four years as a machinists mate in the Navy.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Beginners Can't Depend On 'Look-Say' Reading

In the modern school, most children start to read by the "look-say" method. They study whole words and learn to say them from memory.

By Garry Meyers

Sometimes a few of these words are pictured, with each word under or near the picture. Recognizing a few such words, the child may guess others that appear in the sentence. Guessing some correctly may help him to remember the rest.

Many of the words which can't be pictured are short ones such as these: the, is, are, on, that, of, for, to, at, was, saw.

Ever so many parents write to me about the child, even in the second or third grade, who has great trouble remembering such short words but has little or no trouble with longer words.

The reason for this is that most of the longer words have meaning to him, while most of the shorter ones have no meaning except when they appear in relation to other words in a sentence.

Some teachers and parents give the child in the first or second grade a list of these words to memorize. But, when he does so, someone must say each word for him, over and over, as he looks at it and tries to remember it.

I've long believed the child is kept too long at trying to read by the whole - word method. Many children don't know the letters of the alphabet until after they have practiced reading for several months or longer.

AFTER YOUR child, with the help of many pictures, has succeeded at reading by the "look-say" method, just enough to get the hang of reading, he would, I believe, profit from spelling out some of the very short words.

Here is something you parents might do. Help him to recognize the letters of the alphabet. As he spells a word he doesn't know, say it for him, hoping he will gain from the sounds he hears. He certainly needs some exercise with sounds in relation to words.

I have a bulletin showing how to do this and to further help the child in the early steps of reading.

My bulletins, "Home Fun With Phonics" and "Early Steps Of Reading," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Graham-Seevers Rites Held At Boyce Methodist Church

A cameo ring and a white Bible were used in the tradition of "something old and something borrowed" by Miss Joyce Ann Graham at her marriage Saturday night to Thomas Seevers.

Open church was observed for the 7:30 o'clock candlelight rites in Boyce Methodist Church. Palms, ferns and lighted tapers in seven-branched candelabra formed the altar setting, accented with two lighted candles on the communion table.

The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gail McQueen, pastor, and the Rev. Sylvester P. Ozmun of Newcomerstown, a former local pastor who was succeeded by Rev. McQueen.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Graham, 2149 Michigan Ave., the bride is a bookkeeper at the First National Bank. The bridegroom, an apprentice printer at the Review, is the son of Mrs. Wells Conkle, 1814 Harvey Ave.

Vocal selections by Mrs. Barbara Stevens, a co-worker of the bride, included "The Wedding Hymn", "Because", "If I Could Tell You" (Firestone) and "The Lord's Prayer." A half-hour recital of traditional music was presented by Mrs. William Golba Jr., church organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. Long sleeves and a jewel neckline highlighted the fitted lace bodice and the full floor length skirt of nylon tulle featured a front lace panel. Her fingertip veil of illusion draped from a crown of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried an arrangement of white carnations and stephanotis on a white Bible, belonging to Mrs. Stevens and used at her recent marriage. The cameo ring belonged to the bride's late maternal grandfather, John Lackey, and was attached to the blue garter worn by the bride.

Her sister, Mrs. Donna Nusser of Wellsville, was matron of honor in mint green nylon net. A matching draped stole was worn over the strapless bodice. The dark green velvet sash fastened in a bow at the back and the streamers draped to the floor length hemline. Her matching head bandeau featured a side feathered effect. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations tinted to match her gown.

Mrs. JoAnn Birch was bridesmaid in an identical dress in orchid nylon net, accented with a sash of deep purple velvet. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations tinted to match her gown and wore a matching head bandeau.

Little Susan Murray, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Murray and niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore blue organdy and carried a basket filled with white flowers intermingled with others in orchid and green to reflect the theme of the attendant's gowns.

Ushers included Larry Nusser of Wellsville, brother-in-law of the bride, Robert Seevers of Marietta and Ted Seevers, brothers of the bridegroom, and Floyd Murray, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A mauve pink lace dress over taffeta and a matching velvet hat was worn by Mrs. Graham with black accessories. Mrs. Conkle wore pink lace over taffeta with a black hat with white feather trim and black accessories. Both were corsages of purple-throated white orchids.

Aides were Mrs. Claudette Korinsky, Mrs. Rhea Monroe of Beaver, Mrs. Donna Perkins, Mrs. Shirlene Doland, Mrs. Ruth Williamson and Mrs. Jean Adkins.

The three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple and miniature white swans were at the base. Silver leaves were additional decorations for the cake arranged in a setting of orchid-maline intermingled with pale green bows.

The dolls on the bride's table were dressed in gowns to match those of the attendants. Background piano music was provided by Francis Cubberley.

Upon their return from a honeymoon at Blackwater Falls, Va., the couple will reside in an apartment at 1846 Harvey Ave.

For traveling, the bride was attired in a black and white suit and black accessories.

Guests included Mrs. Ozmun of Newcomerstown, wife of the former pastor, Mrs. Della Carney of Columbiana, great aunt of the bride, Francis McCall and William McCall, of Rogers, cousins of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Doughty of Ohioville, cousins of the bridegroom.

Both are 1952 graduates of the East Liverpool High School. The bridegroom served four years as a machinists mate in the Navy.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Beginners Can't Depend On 'Look-Say' Reading

In the modern school, most children start to read by the "look-say" method. They study whole words and learn to say them from memory.

By Garry Meyers

Sometimes a few of these words are pictured, with each word under or near the picture. Recognizing a few such words, the child may guess others that appear in the sentence. Guessing some correctly may help him to remember the rest.

Many of the words which can't be pictured are short ones such as these: the, is, are, on, that, of, for, to, at, was, saw.

Ever so many parents write to me about the child, even in the second or third grade, who has great trouble remembering such short words but has little or no trouble with longer words.

The reason for this is that most of the longer words have meaning to him, while most of the shorter ones have no meaning except when they appear in relation to other words in a sentence.

Some teachers and parents give the child in the first or second grade a list of these words to memorize. But, when he does so, someone must say each word for him, over and over, as he looks at it and tries to remember it.

I've long believed the child is kept too long at trying to read by the whole - word method. Many children don't know the letters of the alphabet until after they have practiced reading for several months or longer.

AFTER YOUR child, with the help of many pictures, has succeeded at reading by the "look-say" method, just enough to get the hang of reading, he would, I believe, profit from spelling out some of the very short words.

Here is something you parents might do. Help him to recognize the letters of the alphabet. As he spells a word he doesn't know, say it for him, hoping he will gain from the sounds he hears. He certainly needs some exercise with sounds in relation to words.

I have a bulletin showing how to do this and to further help the child in the early steps of reading.

My bulletins, "Home Fun With Phonics" and "Early Steps Of Reading," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

VILLAGE OF LIGHT

It once was called Village of the Blind. But the Israelis who live there, all of them blind, voted to change the name to Village of Light. They changed it because now there is light—the light of hope. The citizens all have their own houses and support themselves by making and selling furniture, handicrafts, rugs. They were trained through rehabilitation programs operated by one of America's religious faiths. It isn't only the blind who need rehabilitation help overseas. Many have been maimed during war years. They've been deprived of training and education. They need the help you can give when you support the religious OVERSEAS AID Program of your faith.

Man Gives Up, Confesses He Struck Nurse

A 19-year-old Aliquippa resident was fined $50 and costs today in Municipal Court on a charge he struck a nurse in the emergency room at City Hospital Saturday night during a struggle in which he sought to prevent examination of the identification papers of a 22-year-old friend who had been struck on the head with a beer bottle in a Chester tavern.

The defendant, Edward Alan Jozsa, surrendered himself to East Liverpool police Monday night when he learned they were seeking him on a "John Doe" assault warrant signed by Mrs. Ila Johnson of St. George St., the nurse. He pleaded guilty.

Mrs. Johnston testified she was struck when Jozsa sought to prevent her from looking at the identity papers in the wallet of E. Daryl Campbell of Aliquippa, who was taken to the emergency room for treatment of a head laceration.

Mrs. Johnston testified Campbell refused to give his name and Jozsa and another companion of the injured man claimed he was unknown to them. Mrs. Johnston said she reached into Campbell's hip pocket to obtain his wallet when Jozsa snatched it from her hand and tossed it to the third man. She said Jozsa struck her when she grasped his shirt with both hands in an attempt to restrain him. Jozsa said he shoved the nurse's hands away, but denied that he struck her.

Campbell was injured earlier in an incident at the 600 Bar on Carolina Ave., Chester. Police at Chester said Campbell struck a waitress, Connie Glass of Carolina Ave. Then Campbell was hit on the head with a beer bottle by John Ludovici, the proprietor, witnesses told Chester Patrolman Harold Davis, who investigated.

Campbell is in "fair" condition today with the head injury. He faces a charge of assault which the waitress filed against him in the court of Squire Eugene Allison of Chester.

Campbell is one of three Aliquippa men indicted by the Beaver County Grand Jury last Wednesday on charges of inciting a riot Aug. 2 after a traffic mishap in Aliquippa. Police said he and two companions were involved in a street brawl.

Personal Income $355.6 Billion For Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income climbed to an annual rate of $355,600,000,000 last month—a record high for the third month in a row.

The Commerce Department reported Monday night that the rate of individual incomes rose another 1½ billion dollars during the month—providing a new indication the nation is making a rapid upward climb from the recession. The figure was nine billions above February's recession low of $346,400,000,000.

The report also aroused speculation that the government might end the current fiscal year next June 30 with less of a deficit than anticipated.

If income continues to rise, government tax revenues naturally will increase also. That would reduce, at least in part, the $12,200,000,000 deficit estimated last week for fiscal 1959.

U.N. Meets With Formosa Topping List

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The General Assembly opens its 13th regular session today facing one of the most formidable arrays of hot potato issues the U.N. has handled. Formosa seemed certain to head the list.

Before debate even begins, the 81-nation body expects a battle over election of a new Assembly president. Two Arab foreign ministers—Charles Malik of Lebanon and Ahmed Mohammed Mahgoub of Sudan—are top contenders for the post now held by New Zealand's Sir Leslie Munro. Both claim they have enough commitments to get the required simple majority.

The contest springs out of July's Middle East crisis. The United Arab Republic objects to Malik because he is regarded as pro-Western.

In addition to Formosa, the Assembly is expected to give another airing to the unsettled Middle East crisis, France's dispute with Algeria, the British-Greek-Turkish squabble over Cyprus and the controversy over South Africa's racial policies.

A Maplewood roofer escaped with only minor injuries when he fell two stories from the roof of a Wellsville home Monday evening.

Hissom said he had started to climb onto the roof from a plank supported by ladder jacks when he slipped and fell. He said he just "relaxed" when he felt himself going.

For the Nov. 10 talks, the Kremlin proposed equal representation of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the anti-NATO Warsaw Pact. VILLAGE OF LIGHT

It once was called Village of the Blind. But the Israelis who live there, all of them blind, voted to change the name to Village of Light. They changed it because now there is light—the light of hope. The citizens all have their own houses and support themselves by making and selling furniture, handicrafts, rugs. They were trained through rehabilitation programs operated by one of America's religious faiths. It isn't only the blind who need rehabilitation help overseas. Many have been maimed during war years. They've been deprived of training and education. They need the help you can give when you support the religious OVERSEAS AID Program of your faith.

Man Gives Up, Confesses He Struck Nurse

A 19-year-old Aliquippa resident was fined $50 and costs today in Municipal Court on a charge he struck a nurse in the emergency room at City Hospital Saturday night during a struggle in which he sought to prevent examination of the identification papers of a 22-year-old friend who had been struck on the head with a beer bottle in a Chester tavern.

The defendant, Edward Alan Jozsa, surrendered himself to East Liverpool police Monday night when he learned they were seeking him on a "John Doe" assault warrant signed by Mrs. Ila Johnson of St. George St., the nurse. He pleaded guilty.

Mrs. Johnston testified she was struck when Jozsa sought to prevent her from looking at the identity papers in the wallet of E. Daryl Campbell of Aliquippa, who was taken to the emergency room for treatment of a head laceration.

Mrs. Johnston testified Campbell refused to give his name and Jozsa and another companion of the injured man claimed he was unknown to them. Mrs. Johnston said she reached into Campbell's hip pocket to obtain his wallet when Jozsa snatched it from her hand and tossed it to the third man. She said Jozsa struck her when she grasped his shirt with both hands in an attempt to restrain him. Jozsa said he shoved the nurse's hands away, but denied that he struck her.

Campbell was injured earlier in an incident at the 600 Bar on Carolina Ave., Chester. Police at Chester said Campbell struck a waitress, Connie Glass of Carolina Ave. Then Campbell was hit on the head with a beer bottle by John Ludovici, the proprietor, witnesses told Chester Patrolman Harold Davis, who investigated.

Campbell is in "fair" condition today with the head injury. He faces a charge of assault which the waitress filed against him in the court of Squire Eugene Allison of Chester.

Campbell is one of three Aliquippa men indicted by the Beaver County Grand Jury last Wednesday on charges of inciting a riot Aug. 2 after a traffic mishap in Aliquippa. Police said he and two companions were involved in a street brawl.

Personal Income $355.6 Billion For Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income climbed to an annual rate of $355,600,000,000 last month—a record high for the third month in a row.

The Commerce Department reported Monday night that the rate of individual incomes rose another 1½ billion dollars during the month—providing a new indication the nation is making a rapid upward climb from the recession. The figure was nine billions above February's recession low of $346,400,000,000.

The report also aroused speculation that the government might end the current fiscal year next June 30 with less of a deficit than anticipated.

If income continues to rise, government tax revenues naturally will increase also. That would reduce, at least in part, the $12,200,000,000 deficit estimated last week for fiscal 1959.

U.N. Meets With Formosa Topping List

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The General Assembly opens its 13th regular session today facing one of the most formidable arrays of hot potato issues the U.N. has handled. Formosa seemed certain to head the list.

Before debate even begins, the 81-nation body expects a battle over election of a new Assembly president. Two Arab foreign ministers—Charles Malik of Lebanon and Ahmed Mohammed Mahgoub of Sudan—are top contenders for the post now held by New Zealand's Sir Leslie Munro. Both claim they have enough commitments to get the required simple majority.

The contest springs out of July's Middle East crisis. The United Arab Republic objects to Malik because he is regarded as pro-Western.

In addition to Formosa, the Assembly is expected to give another airing to the unsettled Middle East crisis, France's dispute with Algeria, the British-Greek-Turkish squabble over Cyprus and the controversy over South Africa's racial policies.

County Board Meets

Dr. C. S. Palmer Receives New Health Head Contract

LISBON — Dr. C. S. Palmer, Columbiana County health commissioner was offered a new two-year contract at the County Health Board's meeting Monday night.

He was given a two - year contract Nov. 1, 1956, after the county was without a health commissioner for approximately a year. His new contract will begin Nov. 1 at the same salary of $13,500.

Part of the salary is paid by the state and the remainder by the county.

Dr. Palmer reported on the State Health Commissioners Association convention held in Columbus recently. He said the state is considering licensing plumbers on a state level, seeking legislation so that funds in county health department budgets can be made transferable. They also discussed the merit system as against the civil service system in health departmets in the state, he said.

A lengthy discussion was held on the progress in promoting the two-tenths mill health levy at the Nov. 4 election. Dr. Palmer reported support and said that the Columbiana County Health and Safety Council is planning a campaign on behalf of the levy.

Dr. Palmer also reported on the pre-natal educational conferences the county health department expects to start in the very near future.

He will discuss the plan with the Columbiana County medical association at its meeting next Tuesday night at East Liverpool. Dr. Palmer explained the program and estimated the pre-natal educational conferences will run about six weeks.

He also spoke on the Mantoux tests being given to all seniors in schools in the county health district and said all cafeteria workers also are being tested.

All members of the board were present except Fred Hopper of Glenmoor. The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 20, at 8 p. m. Howard Cole, president, presided.

Youth Admits To Police He Shot Man, 23

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police said Alvanus Clark, 19, of Cleveland, came to police headquarters voluntarily today and told detectives he was the one who shot a 23-year-old Willoughby man fatally at an intersection early Saturday.

With Clark was a 22-year-old man who police said was the owner of the car in which Clark had been riding. Police later picked up two girls they said were with the men.

Police had been checking license plates in their search for the man who jumped from a car at East 79th Street and Wade Park Avenue and fired the shot that struck Richard P. Krueger in the head.

Krueger was sitting between two other men in a jeep. His companions told detective the unknown assailant had been in the rear seat of a car that had been following, then pulled ahead, blocking the jeep.

They said a man wearing a red bandanna around his head had stepped in front of the car waving a gun and said, "What are you doing? Looking for trouble?" Then, they said, the man fired into the jeep and got back into the sedan.

Clark is a negro. Krueger was white.

Planned Atomic Tests Seen Vital To Arid Lands

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John T. McCone has described projected tests in New Mexico next year as "extremely important" to arid lands throughout the world.

He said Monday that project Gnome involves the use of isotopes to trace underground rivers and water beds. He said it could have long-lasting effects on research projects throughout the world.

Bricker To Join O'Neill In Rally At Cleveland

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker joins Gov. C. William O'Neill in Cleveland Wednesday for the second of the governor's "Accomplishments with Economy" campaign programs.

Expected to be on hand also are other state and local candidates.

O'Neill opened the program series in Mansfield Monday night. He told an estimated 2,800 people that a network of modern highways across Ohio will aid access to St. Lawrence Seaway outlets.

A third of the state's highways —6-036 miles—has been resurfaced or put under new construction since Jan. 1, 1957, the GOP governor said. Turning to mental health, he asserted the state has the largest construction program since 1870.

And Ohio, he said, is one of the few states not forced to borrow from the federal government to pay additional unemployment benefits.

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP) —A third postponement has reset the first atomic shot of the fall test series for Friday morning.

The blast originally was scheduled for Monday. The Atomic Energy Commission did not give the reason for the delay.

The first of 10 scheduled tests will be an explosion of a less than 10-kiloton weapon from a balloon at 500 feet elevation. The weapon's power would be less than that of 1,000 tons of TNT.

Soldiers in the Belgian Army, under a new government ruling, will now be served butter instead of margarine.

Starfighter Chief Claims Jet Could Handle Anything

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The commander of the U.S. Air Force newly arrived F104 Starfighter squadron said today the deadly record-breaking jet "is able to handle anything it is apt to come up against."

Lt. Col. John W. Bennett of Miami, Fla., said they were brought here to assume a role as part of the air defense team.

The 83rd Fighter - Interceptor Squadron, numbering 20 to 25 Starfighters, was flown from the Hamilton Air Force Base in California, aboard C124 double-deck cargo planes.

The F104 holds the world's speed record for operational fighter craft of 1,404 miles an hour and the world altitude record of 91,249 feet. Because of its small wing of seven feet on each side it is often called "the missile with a man in it."

The Starfighter's principal armament, he added, is the Sidewinder missile, a heat-seeking weapon which heads for the tail of a blazing jet.

Planned Atomic Tests Seen Vital To Arid Lands

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Atomic Energy Commission Chairman John T. McCone has described projected tests in New Mexico next year as "extremely important" to arid lands throughout the world.

He said Monday that project Gnome involves the use of isotopes to trace underground rivers and water beds. He said it could have long-lasting effects on research projects throughout the world.

McCone also said proposed suspension of nuclear tests would result in an intensification of work on the peaceful use of the atom.

But during the ban, he added, "We will not relinquish in any way or slow down our laboratory research on atomic weapons."

County Board Meets

LISBON — Dr. C. S. Palmer, Columbiana County health commissioner was offered a new two-year contract at the County Health Board's meeting Monday night.

He was given a two - year contract Nov. 1, 1956, after the county was without a health commissioner for approximately a year. His new contract will begin Nov. 1 at the same salary of $13,500.

Part of the salary is paid by the state and the remainder by the county.

Dr. Palmer reported on the State Health Commissioners Association convention held in Columbus recently. He said the state is considering licensing plumbers on a state level, seeking legislation so that funds in county health department budgets can be made transferable. They also discussed the merit system as against the civil service system in health departmets in the state, he said.

A lengthy discussion was held on the progress in promoting the two-tenths mill health levy at the Nov. 4 election. Dr. Palmer reported support and said that the Columbiana County Health and Safety Council is planning a campaign on behalf of the levy.

Dr. Palmer also reported on the pre-natal educational conferences the county health department expects to start in the very near future.

He will discuss the plan with the Columbiana County medical association at its meeting next Tuesday night at East Liverpool. Dr. Palmer explained the program and estimated the pre-natal educational conferences will run about six weeks.

He also spoke on the Mantoux tests being given to all seniors in schools in the county health district and said all cafeteria workers also are being tested.

All members of the board were present except Fred Hopper of Glenmoor. The next meeting will be Monday, Oct. 20, at 8 p. m. Howard Cole, president, presided.

Bricker To Join O'Neill In Rally At Cleveland

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker joins Gov. C. William O'Neill in Cleveland Wednesday for the second of the governor's "Accomplishments with Economy" campaign programs.

Expected to be on hand also are other state and local candidates.

O'Neill opened the program series in Mansfield Monday night. He told an estimated 2,800 people that a network of modern highways across Ohio will aid access to St. Lawrence Seaway outlets.

A third of the state's highways —6-036 miles—has been resurfaced or put under new construction since Jan. 1, 1957, the GOP governor said. Turning to mental health, he asserted the state has the largest construction program since 1870.

And Ohio, he said, is one of the few states not forced to borrow from the federal government to pay additional unemployment benefits.

County's Draft Quota Fixed At 13 In October

A quota of 13 men to be inducted into the armed services from Columbiana County has been set for October by State Selective Service headquarters at Columbus.

The state call totals 788, or 216 less than for September, officials said.

The youngest registrant who may be inducted in this call must be at least 22 on Oct. 1 unless he is a volunteer or a delinquent. Jefferson County's quota will be 19.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Elaine Griffith, secretary of County Draft Board 16, said 31 men will be sent to Cleveland Wednesday for physicals. The September quota of eight will be inducted Sept. 24.

Next month's quota will be inducted Oct. 28, Mrs. Griffith said, and 48 will report for physicals Oct. 15.

Youth Admits To Police He Shot Man, 23

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police said Alvanus Clark, 19, of Cleveland, came to police headquarters voluntarily today and told detectives he was the one who shot a 23-year-old Willoughby man fatally at an intersection early Saturday.

With Clark was a 22-year-old man who police said was the owner of the car in which Clark had been riding. Police later picked up two girls they said were with the men.

Police had been checking license plates in their search for the man who jumped from a car at East 79th Street and Wade Park Avenue and fired the shot that struck Richard P. Krueger in the head.

Krueger was sitting between two other men in a jeep. His companions told detective the unknown assailant had been in the rear seat of a car that had been following, then pulled ahead, blocking the jeep.

They said a man wearing a red bandanna around his head had stepped in front of the car waving a gun and said, "What are you doing? Looking for trouble?" Then, they said, the man fired into the jeep and got back into the sedan.

Clark is a negro. Krueger was white.

Appointments Confirmed Of 6 For Faculty

Board Also Accepts Resignations Of 4; Diplomas Approved

Six teaching appointments were confirmed and four resignations accepted Monday night by the Board of Education.

The appointments include Robert Neuwirth, James Martin and Mark Shelton as junior high school teachers, Mitchell Smith as a high school instructor, and Herbert Bell and Mrs. Margaret Huey as elementary teachers.

The board also approved high school diplomas for Jon Calvert, Calvin Chamberlain, Kenneth Lamp, James Mullen, Gerald Nolan and William Wetzel.

It granted permission for six students, who reside in the Beaver Local District, to attend city schools providing they pay the tuition charges and supply their own transportation. They are Barbara Webber, David Irwin, Joan Gilson, Carolyn Wooley, Linda Lowers and Sally Steffen.

It approved the rental of Memorial Auditorium Friday night to the LaCroft Parent - Teacher Association for a concert by the Sunshine Boys Quartet and set the charge at custodial fees only.

The M-A was rented to the Order of DeMolay on Oct. 4 for a reorganization meeting with the rental fee set at $25.

The Christian Business Men's Committee was allowed use of Westgate School auditorium next Monday to show a film on Evangelist Billy Graham. The rental fee was fixed at $20.

On the recommendation of Supt. Ralph W. Betts, the board approved the final payment of $500 to Floyd Cox, general contractor on the LaCroft School opened two years ago.

The payment had been withheld until the contractor attempted to correct a water problem. Betts said three drains have been installed at the front of the school and the ground has been regraded.

There still is some evidence of water in the basement, the superintendent said, pointing out he believes the condition will continue. The contractor's efforts have improved the situation considerably. Betts concluded.

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, reported receipt of $157,911.24 as the third quarterly settlement from the state foundation program and $180,000 as an advance on the August real estate collection. The real estate advance includes $143,200 for the general fund and $36,800 earmarked for bond retirement.

School funds show a balance of $208,593.77, she reported, including $147,197.16 in the general fund, $57,359.64 in bond retirement, $2,211.65 in the improvement fund, $5,741.05 in the cafeteria fund, $46 in the carpenter training fund and $191.17 in night school account. There are deficits of $4,165.40 in the workbook account, $15 in firemen training fund and $2.50 in the foremen training fund.

The board received a letter from Harold Wright, custodian at Westgate, expressing thanks for being sent to a custodial school at Ohio State University. The information he obtained will be passed on to other custodians, Betts said.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieters Must Maintain Eating Pattern

If you are an on-again-off-again dieter, perhaps you have almost lost confidence that you can ever stay with a reducing regime. Take heart from the experience of those who have slimmed down—once you get over certain hurdles, success is more certain.

Ida Jean Kain

The first hump is to make up your mind to change your food habits. Tricky diets are a snare and a delusion. A scientific diet provides all nutrition essentials generously and gives you stick-to-the-ribs fare. The protective diet is planned on your everyday pattern of eating, but with calories cut. You cannot stay with a lopsided diet, but you can stay with a protective plan of eating, provided you want to eat to slim down.

THE SECOND HURDLE is to resolutely stay with the pattern past the point where you're feeling sorry for yourself and wondering if it's worth it. This trying period is likely to last for two or three weeks. Take it from successful deiters, it is worth it.

Perhaps the most severe test is that you stop losing at the same place each time you diet. At the point where the failure pattern repeats itself you bog down and feel that reducing is beyond you. Dieters, almost all reducers who achieve their goal have experienced the same feelings of discouragement.

Even on a protective diet, it is normal to hit a standstill period. If you lost weight fast in the beginning, of course you were elated and figured you would be down to shapely weight in a short while.

Then suddenly, still on the same diet, you stop losing. When, day after day, you step on the scales only to find the pointer stuck at the same place, you begin to have doubts that you'll ever get below that pound. And chances are this is the place you stopped losing before.

What happens is this: In the beginning, you lost stored water along with fat, and your weight change was highly satisfying — perhaps even dramatic. But after the stored water has been released and the soft, easy to lose fat has come off, you will strike a standstill. There will be a period in which no weight is lost.

Dieters, know for certain that if your calories are below your requirements, you will resume reducing. Keep your calories down to 1,000 a day, and make sure you have a complete protein with each of your three meals. Do not oversalt your food. Stay with the diet this week. Don't even step on the scales until next Tuesday morning.

IN THE MEANTIME, add some exercise to your daily routine. The exercise will step up calorie burning a bit. Also, exercise will stimulate your circulation, tone the muscles, and streamline your measurements.

It helps to know that you can go right along losing inches even when the pounds refuse to budge.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Lack Of Funds To Kill State's Survival Project

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Congress' failure to provide funds has just about finished the Ohio Survival Project which was working out a detailed civil defense plan.

Seven of the project's 40 employes will stay on until Sept. 30—when the money runs out—to try and finish up the plan, Says Col. Edward MacAtee, project head under Adj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber.

The idea was to provide a workable plan for areas in Ohio figured to be likely targets in case of enemy attack. Besides Columbus, cities involved are Dayton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Canton, Toledo, Youngstown and Steubenville.

Ohio signed a contract with the federal government in March 1956, and it was renewed in June 1957, to expire Sept. 30, 1958. At the last session, Congress voted to match state funds for civil defense administrative work, but did not vote on a bill to provide the money.

Pope Asks Officials Back Catholic Schools

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII has urged fuller support of Roman Catholic schools by public officials.

"The Christian school," said the Pope, "justifies its reason for being in the measure in which its teachers, lay and clerical, religious and secular, succeed in forming solid Christians."

"Unfortunately," he added, "despite its evident merits, the Catholic school does not always find among public powers the support that it should by right receive."

2 Men Admit Theft Charges

City Pair Arrested In Gas Station Case

Two East Liverpool men pleaded guilty to charges of burglary and larceny Monday evening in a hearing before Squire Frank Domladovac of Ohio Township.

William Lee Landy, 20, of 1722 Cleveland Ave., and William Howard Copestick of St. George St. were arrested Sunday by two Ohio Township officers and East Liverpool police.

Landy and Copestick were held on charges filed by Kyle Pridemore in the burglary of the Pridemore service station on Route 68, a mile and a half west of Midland, around midnight Saturday. They were taken to the Beaver County Jail by Bernard Zlatovich, Ohio Township constable, to await action by the Grand Jury. Bond will be set by the Beaver County Court.

They took $7.50 in cash, 7 packs of cigarettes and a car battery, which were recovered.

Kyle Pridemore Jr. discovered the burglary when he stopped at the station about 7 a. m. Sunday to pick up his Crucible Steel Co. work badge and noticed the cigarette machine broken open. He called Constable Zlatovich, who contacted Andrew Daniels, Ohio Township officer.

The officers discovered evidence to lead them to ask the assistance of East Liverpool police who found the two men Sunday morning at their homes. Landy and Copestick waived extradition and were taken to the Midland jail.

According to police, the two parked about a mile down the road and walked to the station. They broke a window to enter.

A third man, who had been with them in an evening of drinking, passed out in the car and knew nothing of the incident, police said, and he was not charged.

The work will consist of improving the stone house and cabins, including painting and cleanup, planting of pine trees and installation of four new pumps donated by the Deming Co. of Salem.

Nike Missiles May Be Fired For Practice

Hart indicated a missile might be fired from the lakefront Nike base out into Lake Erie after the winter freeze has walted shipping.

Any such firing, Congressman Minshall said, would violate "previous agreements personally made to me and with the citizens of Cleveland."

His telegram to Brucker added that "as a member of the Military Operations Subcommittee on Government Operations, I believe it is your clear duty to make an immediate inquiry concerning this proposed project.

"The Army has repeatedly stated that the firing of practice missiles could be carried out in long-established missile ranges away from the civilian population.

4th Ohio Plane Crash In As Many Days Kills Two

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—For the fourth time in as many days, a private plane has crashed in Ohio. And for the fourth time, both occupants have been killed.

The latest crash happened Monday at Minford, about 20 miles from here. Warren Newsome, 30, of Rt. 1, Wheelersburg, Ohio, the pilot, and Lawrence Slack, also 30, of Rt. 1, South Webster, were killed.

The two took off from Scioto County Airport near Minford, then attempted to land the single-engine Ercoupe at Knore Brothers Airport, a quarter-mile away.

The pilot apparently misjudged the landing distance, attempted to pull up and hit a tree and power lines. The plane fell upside down in a field and burned. Power service in the area was disrupted for several hours.

Appointments Confirmed Of 6 For Faculty

Board Also Accepts Resignations Of 4; Diplomas Approved

Six teaching appointments were confirmed and four resignations accepted Monday night by the Board of Education.

The board also approved high school diplomas for Jon Calvert, Calvin Chamberlain, Kenneth Lamp, James Mullen, Gerald Nolan and William Wetzel.

It granted permission for six students, who reside in the Beaver Local District, to attend city schools providing they pay the tuition charges and supply their own transportation. They are Barbara Webber, David Irwin, Joan Gilson, Carolyn Wooley, Linda Lowers and Sally Steffen.

It approved the rental of Memorial Auditorium Friday night to the LaCroft Parent - Teacher Association for a concert by the Sunshine Boys Quartet and set the charge at custodial fees only.

The M-A was rented to the Order of DeMolay on Oct. 4 for a reorganization meeting with the rental fee set at $25.

The Christian Business Men's Committee was allowed use of Westgate School auditorium next Monday to show a film on Evangelist Billy Graham. The rental fee was fixed at $20.

On the recommendation of Supt. Ralph W. Betts, the board approved the final payment of $500 to Floyd Cox, general contractor on the LaCroft School opened two years ago.

The payment had been withheld until the contractor attempted to correct a water problem. Betts said three drains have been installed at the front of the school and the ground has been regraded.

There still is some evidence of water in the basement, the superintendent said, pointing out he believes the condition will continue. The contractor's efforts have improved the situation considerably. Betts concluded.

Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer, reported receipt of $157,911.24 as the third quarterly settlement from the state foundation program and $180,000 as an advance on the August real estate collection. The real estate advance includes $143,200 for the general fund and $36,800 earmarked for bond retirement.

School funds show a balance of $208,593.77, she reported, including $147,197.16 in the general fund, $57,359.64 in bond retirement, $2,211.65 in the improvement fund, $5,741.05 in the carpenter training fund and $191.17 in night school account. There are deficits of $4,165.40 in the workbook account, $15 in firemen training fund and $2.50 in the foremen training fund.

The board received a letter from Harold Wright, custodian at Westgate, expressing thanks for being sent to a custodial school at Ohio State University. The information he obtained will be passed on to other custodians, Betts said.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Dieters Must Maintain Eating Pattern

If you are an on-again-off-again dieter, perhaps you have almost lost confidence that you can ever stay with a reducing regime. Take heart from the experience of those who have slimmed down—once you get over certain hurdles, success is more certain.

Ida Jean Kain

The first hump is to make up your mind to change your food habits. Tricky diets are a snare and a delusion. A scientific diet provides all nutrition essentials generously and gives you stick-to-the-ribs fare. The protective diet is planned on your everyday pattern of eating, but with calories cut. You cannot stay with a lopsided diet, but you can stay with a protective plan of eating, provided you want to eat to slim down.

THE SECOND HURDLE is to resolutely stay with the pattern past the point where you're feeling sorry for yourself and wondering if it's worth it. This trying period is likely to last for two or three weeks. Take it from successful deiters, it is worth it.

Perhaps the most severe test is that you stop losing at the same place each time you diet. At the point where the failure pattern repeats itself you bog down and feel that reducing is beyond you. Dieters, almost all reducers who achieve their goal have experienced the same feelings of discouragement.

Even on a protective diet, it is normal to hit a standstill period. If you lost weight fast in the beginning, of course you were elated and figured you would be down to shapely weight in a short while.

Then suddenly, still on the same diet, you stop losing. When, day after day, you step on the scales only to find the pointer stuck at the same place, you begin to have doubts that you'll ever get below that pound. And chances are this is the place you stopped losing before.

What happens is this: In the beginning, you lost stored water along with fat, and your weight change was highly satisfying — perhaps even dramatic. But after the stored water has been released and the soft, easy to lose fat has come off, you will strike a standstill. There will be a period in which no weight is lost.

Dieters, know for certain that if your calories are below your requirements, you will resume reducing. Keep your calories down to 1,000 a day, and make sure you have a complete protein with each of your three meals. Do not oversalt your food. Stay with the diet this week. Don't even step on the scales until next Tuesday morning.

IN THE MEANTIME, add some exercise to your daily routine. The exercise will step up calorie burning a bit. Also, exercise will stimulate your circulation, tone the muscles, and streamline your measurements.

It helps to know that you can go right along losing inches even when the pounds refuse to budge.

Send a long, stamped, self - addressed envelope for "Revised Calorie Chart." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Lack Of Funds To Kill State's Survival Project

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Congress' failure to provide funds has just about finished the Ohio Survival Project which was working out a detailed civil defense plan.

Seven of the project's 40 employes will stay on until Sept. 30—when the money runs out—to try and finish up the plan, Says Col. Edward MacAtee, project head under Adj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber.

The idea was to provide a workable plan for areas in Ohio figured to be likely targets in case of enemy attack. Besides Columbus, cities involved are Dayton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Canton, Toledo, Youngstown and Steubenville.

Ohio signed a contract with the federal government in March 1956, and it was renewed in June 1957, to expire Sept. 30, 1958. At the last session, Congress voted to match state funds for civil defense administrative work, but did not vote on a bill to provide the money.

Pope Asks Officials Back Catholic Schools

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII has urged fuller support of Roman Catholic schools by public officials.

"The Christian school," said the Pope, "justifies its reason for being in the measure in which its teachers, lay and clerical, religious and secular, succeed in forming solid Christians."

"Unfortunately," he added, "despite its evident merits, the Catholic school does not always find among public powers the support that it should by right receive."

2 Men Admit Theft Charges

City Pair Arrested In Gas Station Case

Two East Liverpool men pleaded guilty to charges of burglary and larceny Monday evening in a hearing before Squire Frank Domladovac of Ohio Township.

William Lee Landy, 20, of 1722 Cleveland Ave., and William Howard Copestick of St. George St. were arrested Sunday by two Ohio Township officers and East Liverpool police.

Landy and Copestick were held on charges filed by Kyle Pridemore in the burglary of the Pridemore service station on Route 68, a mile and a half west of Midland, around midnight Saturday. They were taken to the Beaver County Jail by Bernard Zlatovich, Ohio Township constable, to await action by the Grand Jury. Bond will be set by the Beaver County Court.

They took $7.50 in cash, 7 packs of cigarettes and a car battery, which were recovered.

Kyle Pridemore Jr. discovered the burglary when he stopped at the station about 7 a. m. Sunday to pick up his Crucible Steel Co. work badge and noticed the cigarette machine broken open. He called Constable Zlatovich, who contacted Andrew Daniels, Ohio Township officer.

The officers discovered evidence to lead them to ask the assistance of East Liverpool police who found the two men Sunday morning at their homes. Landy and Copestick waived extradition and were taken to the Midland jail.

According to police, the two parked about a mile down the road and walked to the station. They broke a window to enter.

A third man, who had been with them in an evening of drinking, passed out in the ear and knew nothing of the incident, police said, and he was not charged.

Nike Missiles May Be Fired For Practice

"It (missile firing) would be desirable to on-site practice for the troops and would demonstrate to the general public how the Nike Ajax missile works."

Hart indicated a missile might be fired from the lakefront Nike base out into Lake Erie after the winter freeze has walted shipping.

Any such firing, Congressman Minshall said, would violate "previous agreements personally made to me and with the citizens of Cleveland."

His telegram to Brucker added that "as a member of the Military Operations Subcommittee on Government Operations, I believe it is your clear duty to make an immediate inquiry concerning this proposed project.

"The Army has repeatedly stated that the firing of practice missiles could be carried out in long-established missile ranges away from the civilian population.

"It seems to me that this is a clear attempt to sidestep commitments previously made. People are fed up with broken promises."

4th Ohio Plane Crash In As Many Days Kills Two

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—For the fourth time in as many days, a private plane has crashed in Ohio. And for the fourth time, both occupants have been killed.

The latest crash happened Monday at Minford, about 20 miles from here. Warren Newsome, 30, of Rt. 1, Wheelersburg, Ohio, the pilot, and Lawrence Slack, also 30, of Rt. 1, South Webster, were killed.

The two took off from Scioto County Airport near Minford, then attempted to land the single-engine Ercoupe at Knore Brothers Airport, a quarter-mile away.

The pilot apparently misjudged the landing distance, attempted to pull up and hit a tree and power lines. The plane fell upside down in a field and burned. Power service in the area was disrupted for several hours.

LISBON — About 1,800 feet of 19-strand copper wire valued at $414 was stolen from a site of the Ohio Edison Co. on County Line Rd. north of Columbiana Monday night, Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said today. The wire had been removed from poles by the company and replaced with new, the sheriff explained.

Delayed 2 Weeks By Grecian Visit, Student Returns

Frances Haniotes had a legitimate excuse to hand her teacher Monday morning when she reported for classes at the High School —two weeks late.

The high school sophomore spent the summer broadening her studies in languages and geography. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Haniotes, 211 Thompson Ave., the teen-ager returned Saturday after three months in Greece visiting relatives.

She sailed June 14 from New York on the liner Olympia and accompanied her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Piliaris of Wheeling, who were born in Greece.

Frances returned by plane from Athens, arriving at Pittsburgh Airport at 7 Saturday night. Her return flight included stops in Brussels, Vienna and Ireland. Her itinerary on the boat going over included stops at Portugal and Italy.

In the homeland of her grandparents, she met other relatives in Athens, on the Island of Crete and on the Dodecanese Islands.

Although Frances could read and write the Greek language before her trip, she had not mastered the difficult tongue. Her acquaintance with Greek teen-agers helped her become more fluent in speaking and she brought home recordings of typical Greek songs and popular songs in the language.

She was accompanied home on the plane by another local resident, Mrs. Maria Dauka, 174 Pennsylvania Ave., who has been visiting her native land since May.

There once was a man who suffered from indigestion. Everytime he read an ad about how to relieve it, he bought a different patent medicine. He hated radio and television because the announcers reminded him of his stomach-aches. He tried their remedies too, but still suffered.

He worried, because he thought he might have ulcers. One day he said to himself, "I will consult a physician." The physician examined him. prescribed the particular medicine that could help him most, and he got better.

Youths Wait Hearings For Striking Man, 53

SALINEVILLE — Hearings on charges of assault and battery against Ronald Smith and Ronald E. Smith, cousins, both of Salineville, will be held Wednesday night at 8 before Mayor Karl Lindner.

The two were arrested on an affidavit signed by Audie Thomas, 53, of Water St. who claims the two young men beat him up in a fight that started in a Main St. tavern Saturday night. Thomas suffered cuts of the mouth and loss of teeth. The fight continued outside the tavern and Thomas was knocked to the sidewalk and received a head injury.

600 More City Voters Waited

Registration Opens In All 32 Precincts

Six hundred more East Liverpool voters may qualify in a one-day precinct registration campaign that opened at 11 this morning, boosting to 11,000 the number enrolled for the Nov. 4 general election.

That prediction was made by Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, as two registrars went to work in each of the city's 32 polling places to sign unqualified voters.

The registration points will be open until 3 this afternoon and again from 5 to 10 tonight. They are located in the usual voting places except for the City Hall precinct—3-B—where the Election Board's office is being used as the registration center.

"If we average 20 new voters per precinct, the gain would be 640," O'Hanlon said. The city showed 10,371 qualified electors this morning after 79 signed Monday-the heaviest single day since a registration campaign was opened several weeks ago. The enrollment deadline is Sept. 24.

"It shows the tempo is picking up," O'Hanlon said. "We have received an increasing number of telephone calls from persons who want to know if they are registered."

Braves Defeat Dodgers, Reduce Magic Number To Four

Ashburn Ups Leading Bat Mark To .343

By The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Braves' magic number is going down, and Richie Ashburn's is going up.

Those were the only games scheduled in the NL. None were played in the American League.

Any combination of four Milwaukee victories and—or defeats by the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates will make the Braves the only club other than the Dodgers to pin pennants back to back in the NL since 1944.

The Braves had to rally in their final game of the season series with Los Angeles, won by the Dodgers 14-8. A five-run seventh inning, with two runs unearned, did the job. Joe Adcock batted in three runs for the champs, hitting his 19th home run in the fourth inning to cut the Dodger lead to 3-1, and then adding a two-run single in the seventh.

Ashburn, setting a Phillie record for games played with 1,631, belted a triple and single in five at-bats. That put him .005 points ahead of the Cards' Stan Musial, out with a leg injury.

Willie Mays of San Francisco is third at .335, with Hank Aaron, 2-for-3 for the Braves after going hitless in eight at-bats, fourth at .333.

Jim Hegan was 3-for-4, with a pair of doubles, and drove in two runs for the Phils as Robin Roberts (16-13) tossed a seven-hitter against loser Wilmer Mizell (10-12). Irv Noren hit his third homer for the Cards.

Little League Meeting Wednesday Postponed

A meeting of Little League baseball officials scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 17, has been postponed to Wednesday, Sept. 24, Lawrence Zollinger, vice president, announced.

Officials will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Travelers Hotel on Sept. 24 to elect new officers for the coming year. Don Burbick heads the nominating committee. A report on graduation exercises of Little Leaguers will be given by John Klinsky.

Zollinger also announced that anyone having Booster Club tickets will please return them at the meeting.

Brown Will Give TCU Rookie Try At Safety Post

Saturday night the Browns will close their exhibition season against the Detroit Lions at Municipal Stadium. Their first league game will be Sept. 28 in Los Angeles.

Monday's trade of halfback Billy Reynolds for Willie McClung, who had three years' experience with the Steelers, puts seven tackles on the Cleveland roster. The 245-pounder will be tried first on the offensive team, but has played both ways for the Steelers.

Three players remain to be cut from the Browns' roster by next Tuesday to reduce it to the required 35.

3 Area Grid Stalwarts Eye Mount Union Posts

Bill Pizzica of East Liverpool, a 200-pound guard, will probably be in the starting lineup for the Mounts when the opener arrives Saturday with Akron University at Akron.

One of two seniors on the young Raider squad, Pizzica won his letter as a fullback in his freshman year and has been used primarily at guard in the past two seasons. The 26 - year - old former Potter standout is also the only three - year letterman on the squad.

Seanor, rated as one of the brightest freshmen on the Mount Union squad, was a standout lineman last year with Coach Dom Amedeo's Chester Panthers where he performed at tackle.

Jackman, who did not play at Mount Union in his freshman year went into the service before beginning his second year and wound up by winning All-Army honors while stationed in Japan.

He played football at Irondale in his high school days when he was listed as a fullback.

Bucs' Witt Mentioned For NL Rookie Honors

Since his recall from Columbus in June, the lanky Californian has piled an 8-2 record with a 1.59 earned run average, best in the National League.

Witt can pick up his seventh straight triumph against the St. Louis Cardinals tonight in the completion of a suspended game of Aug. 3. He leads 2-0 with the Pirates at bat in the fifth.

His recall by the Pirates in June was on his terms. He returned only with the assurance he could be a starter. "I didn't want to sit on the bench,' he said. "That way I wouldn't help the club or myself."

Witt had an outstanding record with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League last year where he won 18 and lost only 7. He led the league in shutouts with six, pitched one two-hit game, four three-hitters and two four-hitters. He hurled 58 1-3 consecutive innings without allowed an earned run and won nine straight, the longest winning streak for a PCL hurler last year.

In 18 games and 102 innings so far this season, the 6-3, 200-pounder has allowed 73 hits, walked 58 and struck out 81. He's pitched 4 complete games.

College Grid Teams Polish Finer Points

By The Associated Press

Ohio State and the 41 other teams that merited at least one vote in the annual Associated Press pre-season football poll paused only for a slight nod at the accolade Monday and continued business as usual on their practice fields.

The sessions, most of which have reached the one-a-day state, have settled down to polishing the finer points as opening Saturday approaches.

The Buckeyes, second in the final 1957 poll, had a double workout after spending a free weekend. Coach Woody Hayes plans a single session today.

Oklahoma, rated No. 2, promoted two linemen and a pair of backs to first string jobs, continuing preparation for the Sept. 27 opener against West Virginia. Coach Bud Wilkinson also held a 40-minute scrimmage with Wahoo McDaniel and Gilmer Lewis, the new line additions, and Dave Baker and Jackie Holt in the starting backfield.

Notre Dame, No. 3, had a bit of good news when speedster Pat Doyle was given a medical OK for heavy work. Doyle is expected to be one of the Irish's starting halfbacks.

Michigan State began concentrating on the players most likely to see action as Coach Duffy Daughtery started to set a varsity outfit for the opener against California Sept. 27. The Spartans were picked No. 4.

No. 10 picked North Carolina welcomed back soph halfback Sonny Folckoner after an ankle injury and Coach Jim Tatum after a throat examination that found him OK.

The second ten was topped by Texas, where Coach Darrell Royal admitted the six seniors on the squad had given it the leadership it needs. He also planned on starting three seniors in the opener Saturday night against the University of Georgia.

Southern Methodist will put the rankings to their first severe test Sept. 27 when it meets Ohio State. The Mustangs were picked 17th.

Clemson, No. 8, had its first three teams spending a half hour apiece in dummy drills against Virginia defenses.

Casey Starts Rebuilding Hurling Staff For Series

By The Associated Press

The pennant at last is in the bag, Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron are healthy, Gil McDougald's hitting and all Casey Stengel has to worry about is rebuilding his pitching staff again with his American League champion New York Yankees two weeks from the World Series.

His ailing pitchers — Whitey Ford, Don Larsen and Tom Sturdivant—provide part of the answer for the Yankees' slow clinching. But those three join 21-game winner Bob Turley as Stengel's top men for the Series.

"I had to make a new pitching staff in the middle of the season and I did it," said Stengel. "And now I'm going to do it again if these men show me they are capable.

"Larsen will pitch batting practice once more, then start a game next week. Sturdivant insists he's ready and as soon as I can, I'll start him too.

"But I won't decide on which men to make eligible for the Series until the end of the season, and maybe not until I go into that meeting with the commissioner the day before."

The Yankees forwarded only a 23-man list to Commissioner Ford Frick last week for Series approval. Larsen, Sturdivant and Murry Dickson, a late-season arrival from Kansas City, were missing. Two of the three can be added under the 25-man Series limit.

Ford, who pitched five innings Sunday and felt fine, was on the original list, although the stubby southpaw had been ineffective for a month because of a sore arm.

Larsen, the perfect game pitcher of the 1956 Series, also has had arm trouble.

Bell Will Pitch For Tribe Tonight Against Senators

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians play their final 1958 game with an eastern club tonight, sending Gary Bell (10-8) against Washington's Pedro Ramos (14-14) or Hal Griggs (3-11).

The game also ends the Tribe's last long home stand. Only a three-game series against Detroit on the last days of the season remains to be played in Cleveland Stadium.

After tonight the Indians are idle until Friday when they open a four-game series in Detroit against the Tigers. That series should pretty well settle the current three-way race for the American League's first division and the share of World Series money that goes with finishing among the top four.

By The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Braves' magic number is going down, and Richie Ashburn's is going up.

The Braves, closing in on a repeat National League pennant, reduced the clinching combination to four by whipping Los Angeles 8-3.

Ashburn, riding a hot streak in a bid for his second batting title, pushed his average to .343 as Philadelphia rapped St. Louis 6-2 Monday night.

Those were the only games scheduled in the NL. None were played in the American League.

Any combination of four Milwaukee victories and—or defeats by the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates will make the Braves the only club other than the Dodgers to pin pennants back to back in the NL since 1944.

The Braves had to rally in their final game of the season series with Los Angeles, won by the Dodgers 14-8. A five-run seventh inning, with two runs unearned, did the job. Joe Adcock batted in three runs for the champs, hitting his 19th home run in the fourth inning to cut the Dodger lead to 3-1, and then adding a two-run single in the seventh.

Bob Rush (9-6) was the winner in relief, with southpaw Fred Kipp (6-6) the loser.

Ashburn, setting a Phillie record for games played with 1,631, belted a triple and single in five at-bats. That put him .005 points ahead of the Cards' Stan Musial, out with a leg injury.

Willie Mays of San Francisco is third at .335, with Hank Aaron, 2-for-3 for the Braves after going hitless in eight at-bats, fourth at .333.

Jim Hegan was 3-for-4, with a pair of doubles, and drove in two runs for the Phils as Robin Roberts (16-13) tossed a seven-hitter against loser Wilmer Mizell (10-12). Irv Noren hit his third homer for the Cards.

Little League Meeting Wednesday Postponed

A meeting of Little League baseball officials scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 17, has been postponed to Wednesday, Sept. 24, Lawrence Zollinger, vice president, announced.

Officials will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Travelers Hotel on Sept. 24 to elect new officers for the coming year. Don Burbick heads the nominating committee. A report on graduation exercises of Little Leaguers will be given by John Klinsky.

Zollinger also announced that anyone having Booster Club tickets will please return them at the meeting.

Brown Will Give TCU Rookie Try At Safety Post

Saturday night the Browns will close their exhibition season against the Detroit Lions at Municipal Stadium. Their first league game will be Sept. 28 in Los Angeles.

Monday's trade of halfback Billy Reynolds for Willie McClung, who had three years' experience with the Steelers, puts seven tackles on the Cleveland roster. The 245-pounder will be tried first on the offensive team, but has played both ways for the Steelers.

Three players remain to be cut from the Browns' roster by next Tuesday to reduce it to the required 35.

3 Area Grid Stalwarts Eye Mount Union Posts

Bill Pizzica of East Liverpool, a 200-pound guard, will probably be in the starting lineup for the Mounts when the opener arrives Saturday with Akron University at Akron.

One of two seniors on the young Raider squad, Pizzica won his letter as a fullback in his freshman year and has been used primarily at guard in the past two seasons. The 26 - year - old former Potter standout is also the only three - year letterman on the squad.

Seanor, rated as one of the brightest freshmen on the Mount Union squad, was a standout lineman last year with Coach Dom Amedeo's Chester Panthers where he performed at tackle.

Jackman, who did not play at Mount Union in his freshman year went into the service before beginning his second year and wound up by winning All-Army honors while stationed in Japan.

He played football at Irondale in his high school days when he was listed as a fullback.

Bucs' Witt Mentioned For NL Rookie Honors

Since his recall from Columbus in June, the lanky Californian has piled an 8-2 record with a 1.59 earned run average, best in the National League.

Witt can pick up his seventh straight triumph against the St. Louis Cardinals tonight in the completion of a suspended game of Aug. 3. He leads 2-0 with the Pirates at bat in the fifth.

His recall by the Pirates in June was on his terms. He returned only with the assurance he could be a starter. "I didn't want to sit on the bench,' he said. "That way I wouldn't help the club or myself."

Witt had an outstanding record with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League last year where he won 18 and lost only 7. He led the league in shutouts with six, pitched one two-hit game, four three-hitters and two four-hitters. He hurled 58 1-3 consecutive innings without allowed an earned run and won nine straight, the longest winning streak for a PCL hurler last year.

In 18 games and 102 innings so far this season, the 6-3, 200-pounder has allowed 73 hits, walked 58 and struck out 81. He's pitched 4 complete games.

Blue And White Club To Meet Tonight At 8

College Grid Teams Polish Finer Points

By The Associated Press

Ohio State and the 41 other teams that merited at least one vote in the annual Associated Press pre-season football poll paused only for a slight nod at the accolade Monday and continued business as usual on their practice fields.

The sessions, most of which have reached the one-a-day state, have settled down to polishing the finer points as opening Saturday approaches.

The Buckeyes, second in the final 1957 poll, had a double workout after spending a free weekend. Coach Woody Hayes plans a single session today.

Oklahoma, rated No. 2, promoted two linemen and a pair of backs to first string jobs, continuing preparation for the Sept. 27 opener against West Virginia. Coach Bud Wilkinson also held a 40-minute scrimmage with Wahoo McDaniel and Gilmer Lewis, the new line additions, and Dave Baker and Jackie Holt in the starting backfield.

Notre Dame, No. 3, had a bit of good news when speedster Pat Doyle was given a medical OK for heavy work. Doyle is expected to be one of the Irish's starting halfbacks.

Michigan State began concentrating on the players most likely to see action as Coach Duffy Daughtery started to set a varsity outfit for the opener against California Sept. 27. The Spartans were picked No. 4.

No. 10 picked North Carolina welcomed back soph halfback Sonny Folckoner after an ankle injury and Coach Jim Tatum after a throat examination that found him OK.

The second ten was topped by Texas, where Coach Darrell Royal admitted the six seniors on the squad had given it the leadership it needs. He also planned on starting three seniors in the opener Saturday night against the University of Georgia.

Southern Methodist will put the rankings to their first severe test Sept. 27 when it meets Ohio State. The Mustangs were picked 17th.

Clemson, No. 8, had its first three teams spending a half hour apiece in dummy drills against Virginia defenses.

Casey Starts Rebuilding Hurling Staff For Series

By The Associated Press

The pennant at last is in the bag, Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron are healthy, Gil McDougald's hitting and all Casey Stengel has to worry about is rebuilding his pitching staff again with his American League champion New York Yankees two weeks from the World Series.

His ailing pitchers — Whitey Ford, Don Larsen and Tom Sturdivant—provide part of the answer for the Yankees' slow clinching. But those three join 21-game winner Bob Turley as Stengel's top men for the Series.

"I had to make a new pitching staff in the middle of the season and I did it," said Stengel. "And now I'm going to do it again if these men show me they are capable.

"Larsen will pitch batting practice once more, then start a game next week. Sturdivant insists he's ready and as soon as I can, I'll start him too.

"But I won't decide on which men to make eligible for the Series until the end of the season, and maybe not until I go into that meeting with the commissioner the day before."

The Yankees forwarded only a 23-man list to Commissioner Ford Frick last week for Series approval. Larsen, Sturdivant and Murry Dickson, a late-season arrival from Kansas City, were missing. Two of the three can be added under the 25-man Series limit.

Ford, who pitched five innings Sunday and felt fine, was on the original list, although the stubby southpaw had been ineffective for a month because of a sore arm.

Larsen, the perfect game pitcher of the 1956 Series, also has had arm trouble.

Bell Will Pitch For Tribe Tonight Against Senators

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians play their final 1958 game with an eastern club tonight, sending Gary Bell (10-8) against Washington's Pedro Ramos (14-14) or Hal Griggs (3-11).

The game also ends the Tribe's last long home stand. Only a three-game series against Detroit on the last days of the season remains to be played in Cleveland Stadium.

After tonight the Indians are idle until Friday when they open a four-game series in Detroit against the Tigers. That series should pretty well settle the current three-way race for the American League's first division and the share of World Series money that goes with finishing among the top four.

Hemus Seen Cards Pilot; Tebbetts Due Office Post

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A shakeup of the St. Louis Cardinals all the way from dugout to front office is all but an accomplished fact, The Associated Press has learned.

The key figures in the sweeping changes that seem inevitable—Birdie Tebbetts and Solly Hemus—spoke guardedly of their future.

But some confirmation of what seems to be in the wind came today from the Philadelphia Phillies headquarters.

Hemus, the reports have it, will replace Fred Hutchinson as the Redbirds' field manager. Hemus, 34, a former Cardinal, is the veteran infielder who has been as dynamic as any man on the last-place Phillies squad this season.

Tebbetts, who recently quit as manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, will team up with Vaughan (Bing) Devine as co-general manager but without a formal title.

As further told by well-posted sources, another front office berth would be made for a man with baseball savvy, a man now with another major league club. His job would be to help Devine, who in turn would move up higher in the administrative scale.

Obviously smarting over the club's poor showing this season, Cardinals President August Busch is represented as convinced at last that seasoned baseball men are better able to improve the fortunes of ball clubs than is a hierarchy of veeps at the brewery.

Busch, by report, has himself approached Hemus, Tebbetts and the third man, whose name is withheld.

Roy Hamey, Phils general manager, said the Cards have asked to dicker with the club for Hemus' managerial services.

He added that the Phils are ready to grant permission, but that they mean to demand suitable players in trade.

Hemus, commented: "The story is news to me. I don't know anything more than I have read in the papers.

"Sure, I'd love to manage the Cardinals. Who wouldn't? It's the dream of every major leaguer to manage in the big leagues."

Tebbetts, speaking from his home in Nashua, N.H., acknowledged that he will be back in baseball next year as an executive. He would not say, however, whether he had been negotiating with the Cardinals for any kind of job.

In St. Louis, Dick Meyer, Cardinals executive vice president, insisted that "Tebbetts is not coming to the Cardinals in any capacity.

"There will be no co-general manager. That's not a denial, it's a statement of fact."

He did say, however, that he had approached Phils owner Bob Carpenter concerning Hemus' availability.

Man Gives Up After Shooting His Wife

No charge was filed against Mazzaro immediately. He told police the shooting climaxed a series of arguments that started when the couple separated three months ago.

Ohio State's Figured No. 1 Football Team

NEW YORK (AP)—The sports writers and sportscasters participating in the Associated Press preseason football poll indicated today their judgment isn't to be influenced by past performance.

They can see the defending national champion Auburn team no better than fifth among the top 10. They handed the top spot to Ohio State, runner-up in 1957.

Ohio State received 46 first-place votes, twice as many as Oklahoma, second in the balloting. Ohio State had a total of 859 points to 788 for the Sooners.

Notre Dame was third, indicating the prestige of the Irish is undimmed despite their 7-3 record and 10th-place finish last year. Michigan State was fourth.

Most of the first-place votes were cornered by four teams, but no less than 42 teams received votes for the top 10.

Behind Auburn in the first 10 are Mississippi, Navy, Texas Christian, Army and North Carolina. Texas Christian, Army and North Carolina and newcomers to the group, based on last year's final standings.

Auburn, Ohio State, Michigan State, Oklahoma, Navy, Iowa, Mississippi, Rice, Texas Aggies, Notre Dame.

1. Ohio State (46) 859
2. Oklahoma (23) 788
3. Notre Dame (11) 702
4. Michigan State (4) 605
5. Auburn (9) 567
6. Mississippi 283
7. Navy 195
8. Texas Christian 185
9. Army (1) 141
10. North Carolina (1) 140

The second 10: Texas 121; Oregon State (2) 116) Iowa 104; Wisconsin 100; Mississippi State (1) 94; Miami 77; Southern Methodist (1) 70; Clemson 54; Pittsburgh 41; Texas Aggies 39.

Hemus Seen Cards Pilot; Tebbetts Due Office Post

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A shakeup of the St. Louis Cardinals all the way from dugout to front office is all but an accomplished fact, The Associated Press has learned.

The key figures in the sweeping changes that seem inevitable—Birdie Tebbetts and Solly Hemus—spoke guardedly of their future.

But some confirmation of what seems to be in the wind came today from the Philadelphia Phillies headquarters.

Hemus, the reports have it, will replace Fred Hutchinson as the Redbirds' field manager. Hemus, 34, a former Cardinal, is the veteran infielder who has been as dynamic as any man on the last-place Phillies squad this season.

Tebbetts, who recently quit as manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, will team up with Vaughan (Bing) Devine as co-general manager but without a formal title.

As further told by well-posted sources, another front office berth would be made for a man with baseball savvy, a man now with another major league club. His job would be to help Devine, who in turn would move up higher in the administrative scale.

Obviously smarting over the club's poor showing this season, Cardinals President August Busch is represented as convinced at last that seasoned baseball men are better able to improve the fortunes of ball clubs than is a hierarchy of veeps at the brewery.

Busch, by report, has himself approached Hemus, Tebbetts and the third man, whose name is withheld.

Roy Hamey, Phils general manager, said the Cards have asked to dicker with the club for Hemus' managerial services.

He added that the Phils are ready to grant permission, but that they mean to demand suitable players in trade.

Hemus, commented: "The story is news to me. I don't know anything more than I have read in the papers.

"Sure, I'd love to manage the Cardinals. Who wouldn't? It's the dream of every major leaguer to manage in the big leagues."

Tebbetts, speaking from his home in Nashua, N.H., acknowledged that he will be back in baseball next year as an executive. He would not say, however, whether he had been negotiating with the Cardinals for any kind of job.

In St. Louis, Dick Meyer, Cardinals executive vice president, insisted that "Tebbetts is not coming to the Cardinals in any capacity.

"There will be no co-general manager. That's not a denial, it's a statement of fact."

He did say, however, that he had approached Phils owner Bob Carpenter concerning Hemus' availability.

Yesterday's STARS

By The Associated Press

Hitting — Joe Adcock, Braves, drove in three runs with his 19th homer and a bases-loaded single in a winning eighth-inning rally for 8-3 victory over the Dodgers.

Pitching — Robin Roberts, Phillies, won his 16th with a seven-hitter that beat the Cardinals 6-2, striking out five while walking but two.

Man Gives Up After Shooting His Wife

Officers quoted Vito Mazzaro, 44, as saying he shot his wife, Carmella, 41, because she refused to sign papers to sell the family home.

Mazzaro took his wife to St. John's Hospital, where she was reported in fair condition with a bullet wound in the back of the neck.

No charge was filed against Mazzaro immediately. He told police the shooting climaxed a series of arguments that started when the couple separated three months ago.

Ohio State's Figured No. 1 Football Team

NEW YORK (AP)—The sports writers and sportscasters participating in the Associated Press preseason football poll indicated today their judgment isn't to be influenced by past performance.

They can see the defending national champion Auburn team no better than fifth among the top 10. They handed the top spot to Ohio State, runner-up in 1957.

Ohio State received 46 first-place votes, twice as many as Oklahoma, second in the balloting. Ohio State had a total of 859 points to 788 for the Sooners.

Notre Dame was third, indicating the prestige of the Irish is undimmed despite their 7-3 record and 10th-place finish last year. Michigan State was fourth.

Most of the first-place votes were cornered by four teams, but no less than 42 teams received votes for the top 10.

Behind Auburn in the first 10 are Mississippi, Navy, Texas Christian, Army and North Carolina. Texas Christian, Army and North Carolina and newcomers to the group, based on last year's final standings.

Auburn, Ohio State, Michigan State, Oklahoma, Navy, Iowa, Mississippi, Rice, Texas Aggies, Notre Dame.

Here is the way they are picked to finish this year (first-place votes in parentheses:

1. Ohio State (46) 859
2. Oklahoma (23) 788
3. Notre Dame (11) 702
4. Michigan State (4) 605
5. Auburn (9) 567
6. Mississippi 283
7. Navy 195
8. Texas Christian 185
9. Army (1) 141
10. North Carolina (1) 140

The second 10: Texas 121; Oregon State (2) 116) Iowa 104; Wisconsin 100; Mississippi State (1) 94; Miami 77; Southern Methodist (1) 70; Clemson 54; Pittsburgh 41; Texas Aggies 39.

Council Hears Auto Wrecker

Junk Yard Control Draws Protest

Carter Tucker, operator of a Harvey Ave. auto wrecking concern, appeared before Council Monday night to lodge a protest in advance against several provisions in a licensing and regulatory ordinance for junk yards that the members are considering.

Tucker hit particularly at proposed sections that would forbid stacking wrecked cars one atop the other and would require the entire junk yard premises to be enclosed by a fence at least 7 feet high.

He said neither of the requirement is needed in the case of his operation, because it lies 12 to 32 feet below street level — over an embankment on the south side of the street.

HE SAID there would be no danger in stacking autos in his yard because they could not possibly tumble onto the sidewalk or street. Because of the way in which the yard is situated, a fence is not needed as a safety provision, he added.

Council began to study a draft of a proposed ordinance early in September, but there has been no indication when it will be brought to the floor, or in what form. Tucker explained he read some of the details in the newspaper.

"What you read is a proposal Council is considering," President B. E. Warner said. "It is only a preliminary outline."

"Is the sidewalk clear in front of your place now and do you have a gate," Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr. asked.

Tucker replied none of his autos are on private property. He said he installed a gate, which was not restored to its original condition by a contractor who removed it to clear the way for installation of a sanitary sewer nearby.

THE 120-FOOT stretch of city ground, site of an old water pumping station, lies in the middle of the terminal company's property. Permission for the construction was given on a recommendation of Councilman W. E. Kaiser, head of the planning committee. He included a provision that the property will remain city - owned and will be available to use of the municipality.

The concern originally offered to lease the property for 10 years at $50 a year, with an option to renew for another 10 years.

In a caucus session, Council held a long discussion with a delegation of Harvey Ave. residents seeking access to Cedar Alley at the rear of their homes via a narrow strip of ground dedicated for street purposes that lies on either side of the Elizabeth St. railroad overpass.

For many years, the ground to the east of the overpass was used for auto travel, but some of the residents have been barred from using it recently by parked vehicles of the nearby Adkins Lumber Co., they complained.

The delegation included Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lincoln and Mrs. Frances Teixeira, their next-door neighbor. They presented a petition with 11 signatures asking the city to arrange for access to Cedar Alley via a 10 - foot section of city ground on the east side of the overpass. The group was represented by Atty. Ben H. Berman. Council deferred a decision.

REPORTING FOR THE street committee, Sample said legislation will be presented to permit parking of four autos in a triangular patch at the center of the intersection of Avondale St. and St. Clair Ave. Parking recently was banned on the small stretch.

He reported approval of requests for new streetlights on Park Blvd. and at E. 6th St. and Grove Alley. New lights already are in service on Harvey Ave. near the Pennsylvania state line, he reported.

Councilman William Y. Orr gave the committee a request for installation of a street light on Thompson Ave. halfway between Ravine St. and Vine St. Sample said a request for establishment of one-way traffic in Grove Alley has been withdrawn by the residents because the change would have resulted in a parking ban.

Reporting for the finance committee, Councilman George E. Willshaw said it has approved a Health Department request for a $300 appropriation to hire a milk sanitarian for its enforcement program. Councilman A. Stanley Kidder, ordinance committee head, said legislation will be presented soon to vacate sections of Puritan Alley, Brushton Alley and Maryland Ave.

The street committee and the administration were given a petition referring to "high weeds and old trees that are unsightly and a menace to property adjoining" a home between College St. and Sugar St. owned by Miss Dorothy Forester of Dresden Ave.

THE CLAIMS committee was given a $46 bill from John Moore of Florence St., who said his auto was damaged July 15 when it dropped into a washout at the foot of Florence St.

Councilman H. A. Tullis suggested marking lanes on Pennsylvania Ave. at Boyce St. and Mulberry St. to separate through traffic from autos waiting to make turns. He reiterated a complaint of a broken storm sewer on Park Ave. at Line Alley.

Councilman Samuel Webber submitted a request for repair of street holes in Fisher Park and investigation of a sewage complaint off Alton St.

He asked Orr, franchise committee chairman, if there has been "any improvement in the equipment used on the Pleasant Heights bus line."

"The only information I can give is what I received second-hand to the effect the insurance company is investigating the Holtz (transportation Co.) buses," Orr replied.

Willshaw asked repainting of a "Stop" sign on the pavement at Lincoln Ave. and Smith St. It was covered when the blacktop was seal - coated recently, he said. If Lisbon St. is seal - coated, the administration should take steps to restore the center lines as quickly as possible, as the street is hazardous in foggy weather, he said.

Lawyers Bid For Reprieve In Integration

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Lawyers for the city of Charlottesville go before U.S. Circuit Judge Simon Sobeloff today seeking a reprieve from an integration order that would close two of the city's largest schools.

The conference with Sobeloff in Baltimore appeared to offer the city its last avenue of escape from compliance this month with the order signed last week by U.S. Dist. Judge John Paul.

Should Sobeloff decline to stay the order directing the enrollment of two Negroes in Lane High School and 10 in Venable Elementary School, closure of both schools under Virginia law would be all but assured. The two schools are scheduled to open next Monday.

Sobeloff last Thursday refused to stay in order by Judge Paul directing the admission of 22 Negro children to Warren County High School, about 80 miles northwest of Charlottesville. As a result, the 1,000-pupil high school at Front Royal—only high school in the county-was shut down.

In Norfolk, where six schools are threatened with closure it was revealed that a number of Norfolk secondary school pupils have been enrolled in South Norfolk schools, each paying $180 tuition.

The Norfolk school board, in compliance with a federal court order, has told U.S. Judge Walter Hoffman it is prepared to enroll 17 Negro students in white schools at their opening next Monday.

College Prep Students Here Rate Above Average In Test

East Liverpool High School students are average or slightly below average, based on the results of a test administered last spring, Supt. Ralph W. Betts told the Board of Education Monday night.

Principal George Hargraves compiled the summary of the results in which the norms were based on the scores of 46,000 students in 288 high schools in 35 states.

In his conclusion, Hargraves declared, "The test shows we are not extremely weak, but we do have a lot of room for moving upward."

The percentiles are the average of all students in a particular grade in an individual test. They are not scores, the superintendent emphasized.

Betts also reported honor classes have been established in English III and IV, American history and chemistry as part of a research project in which the high school is participating. It is one of 100 schools in 19 states taking part in the program to discover and provide better methods for training exceptional students.

If the classes, now limited to juniors and seniors, prove of value, they may be extended next year to include sophomores, he said.

Enrollment is on a voluntary basis and students selected are above average in ability and achievement and scored above 75 per cent in the test last spring and were recommended for enrollment by one or more teachers.

The purposes, he explained, is not quicker coverage of the textbook but a broader coverage of the subject. The students realize more is expected of them in the class, he said.

The personnel in the classes is not the same, he explained, pointing out a student may be eligible in one field but not in another. There are only about eight students in more than one class and none in more than two of the special classes.
